NOTED AIRMAN AND HIS WIFE WILL FLY OVER NORTH PACIFIC

Plane Will Be Equipped With Pontoons for Flying Tour of Far East Which Will Start Within a Month—Two or Three Weeks Flight Around China and Japan Planned—May Visit Soviet Territory—Baby to Stay at Home.

NEW YORK, June 4—(INS)—Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh lunched at the Aviation Country club at Hicksville, L. I., today and failed to comment on their plans to make an air tour of the Orient. Later Mrs. Lindbergh made a solo flight in the small plane she recently purchased while her famous husband, seated on the grass, watched her. About 2 p. m., both the colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh departed from the club in the colonel's Lockheed-Sirius plane which they will use on the tour of the Orient.

WASHINGTON, June 4— (AP) — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will leave within a month for a flying tour of the Far East, making the trip by air across the north Pacific. Mrs. Lindbergh will accompany him.

The exact date of his departure has not been determined, but at his request the state department is asking the Japanese and Chinese governments for permission for him to land in those countries.

Although the trip across the north Pacific will not involve any long water hops, Colonel Lindbergh is taking every safety precaution.

Pontoons for Plane.

His Lockheed monoplane will be equipped with pontoons and he will make fueling arrangements at necessary points. State department officials said that if it was necessary for Lindbergh to land on the soviet territory of Siberia he would secure permission privately as other fliers do when planning flights over soviet territory.

The purpose of the trip, Lindbergh told the department, was to tour the orient. His present plans call for an air tour of two or three weeks around China and Japan.

Not to Take Son.

The Lindberghs will not take with them their young son. Plans

LICENSE PLATES WILL COST LESS

Contract is Let at Lower Price Than Ever Before.

Nebraska will get its motor vehicle license plates for 1932—over a half a million of them—at the lowest price it ever paid and will save approximately $8,000 as compared with their cost for this year. The plates are to be furnished, as heretofore, under contract, since the state factory which will make them hereafter cannot be built and equipped in time to supply those needed next year.

The contract was awarded Thursday by State Purchasing Agent Farris to the Grimm Stamp & Badge Co., St. Louis, at 6.92 cents per pair of plates for automobiles and trucks. Those bought last year for 1931 use cost 7.99 cents a pair. This makes a saving of more than 1 cent a pair. The total cost this year is estimated at $35,000, as against $43,000 a year ago.

There were six bids, the highest being 9.41 cents per pair.

Estimate 406,580 Passenger Cars.

The estimated number of plates needed for 1932 is as follows: Passenger cars, 406,580 pairs; trucks,

JOHNSON MAY GET CLEMENCY

Board May Take Early Action In Case of Returned Convict.

Governor Bryan is inclined to submit the case of Charles E. Johnson, 66-year-old fugitive who voluntarily returned to the Nebraska penitentiary Wednesday for action by the state parole board at an early date.

Although he said the law precluded personal investigations by members of the board of individual cases, the governor evidenced deep interest in the case.

"I'm without first hand knowledge of Johnson's affairs, but from what I have been told it seems the old man has been punished more by his conscience than had he remained throughout his two-year term at the prison," he added.

Governor Bryan said he believed the action of Johnson in returning would have a beneficial reaction, and that the lesson afforded through the returned convict's actions was worthwhile.

He indicated that the case might be brought to the attention of the pardon board at its meeting in July and that he might recommend clemency at that time.

N. T. Harmon, state probation officer, considered the case in about the same light. He explained, however, that clemency could not be considered before the July meeting

NAUTILUS READY START JOURNEY TO NORTH POLE

Submarine Off Cape Cod For Final Tests of Strange Voyage.

UNDERSEA CRUISE SET FOR SUMMER

Craft Will Try to Cross Pole From Spitzbergen To Alaska.

By BYRON DARNTON

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., June 4—(AP)—The Nautilus, lean and grim old navy submarine which has been reconditioned and equipped with an odd looking trolley designed to rest against Arctic ice, was off Cape Cod today for final tests before starting on as strange an adventure as the fictioneers ever recorded—the under-ice conquest of the North Pole.

With Sir Hubert Wilkins and a group of scientists aboard, she will nose out into the Atlantic in a day or two, bound for England and thence to the north. Sometime this summer she will glide out from Spitzbergen to cross the pole to Alaska, traveling most of the way beneath the northern ice cap.

Views on Project Difefr

Some experts—notably English navy men—have attacked the Wilkins project as a prize bit of foolhardiness. Others—notably Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer—have declared it to be an eminently practical way of determining what goes on at the top of the world.

The trip starts with the benediction of Jean Jules Verne, grandson of the novelist whose omaginary undersee vessel set a mark for inventor to shoot at.

Verne came to the United States in March to attend the Christening of the Nautilus at Brooklyn navy yard. The name of the vessel in his grandfather's "Twenty Thou-

AIR TOUR WILL VISIT LINCOLN

Ships On National Reliability Test to Stop Here.

Over Forty Planes To Be In Contest Next July.

The national air reliability tour will stop in Lincoln for the first time since 1926, Captain Ray Collins, manager, announced here Thursday morning, following a conference with Harry Sidles, in which arrangements were made for the use of Union airport.

Captain Collins arrived at the field at 9:15 a. m., after a hop from Topeka in the famous "Spokane Sun God", piloted by Jack Story. Only slightly less friendly than the two men was the third passenger, "Wing Bull", seven months old English bull pup, which has been flying almost constantly since birth.

Forty or more planes will make the tour, which will start from Detroit July 14 and end there on July 25. Prizes totaling $20,000 and the $7,500 Ford trophy and the $3,000 Great Lakes light planes trophy will be awarded to the pilots, showing the best performances. The route includes stops at thirty-five cities in the United States and Canada. Lincoln will be the farthest west the tour will go, with the exception of San Antonio and Fort Worth, Tex. The ships' crews will have lunch in Lincoln and will proceed to Omaha for their overnight rest.

Remembers Old Field.

The tour will be the seventh annual excursion. When it stopped here in 1926, the planes landed at the former Page field. "I'll never forget the bumps in that field," Captain Collins laughed, as he recalled the day.

Collins, who was an army aviation instructor in France during the war, was referee of the tour for its first four years, and has been manager since. It was formerly known as the Ford reliability air

Report Craft Was Forced Down 60 Miles at Sea Is Erroneous.

PORTO PRAIA, Cape Verde Islands, June 4—(AP)—Germany's big seaplane Do-X, was flying over the Atlantic for Brazil this afternoon on the last leg of a flight which has been delayed half a dozen times.

She lifted her heavy load off the harbor after a thirty-second run and headed south, low over the water. So low was she flying that an erroneous report arose that she had made a forced landing in the water sixty miles at sea.

A good wind helped her off and she disappeared quickly in the haze. It was just before 1 p. m., (8 a. m., E. S. T.) when she rose from the water and got on her way.

At 5 p. m., a ship in the south Atlantic radioed that she had made a wireless contact with the Do-X,

U. S. BOND ISSUE IS SEVEN TIMES OVERSUBSCRIBED

Six Billions Availalble, While Only 800 Millions Asked.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS EXPRESS SURPRISE

No Difficulty Seen In Raising Funds to Meet Big Deficit.

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—The $800,000,000 bond issue announced by Secretary Mellon Monday was oversubscribed more than seven times when the books closed last night with total subscriptions of $6,000,000,000.

The secretary announced today that subscriptions for the eighteen-year 3 1-8 per cent bonds, issued to begin the defunding of the short term debt of more than $3,000,000,000, had been closed last night.

An announcement of the actual amount of subscriptions and the the basis of allotment will be made within a few days, probably Saturday morning.

Subscriptions received by Federal Reserve banks and the treasury department through the mails up to 10 o'clock this morning will be considered as having been received before the close of the subscription books.

Officials Surprised.

The huge oversubscription surprised officials because the most optimistic of them had not expected the issue would be taken up more than three or four times. The $600,000,000 bond issue last March 15 was oversubscribed four times.

Officials expressed the private opinion that the oversubscription was due to anxiety of investors to have safe government issues in which to place their funds and to the fact that bankers took advantage of the 3 1-8 per cent interest to put their idle funds to work.

The money from the sale of the bonds will be used to retire approxi-

MANY PROMOTED TO SENIOR HIGH

Exercises For 826 Are Held at St. Paul Church.

Principal Address is Delivered by Rev. Ben F. Wyland.

Presentation of promotion certificates to 826 Lincoln junior high school students, who are being advanced to the senior high school, took place Thursday afternoon at St. Paul Methodist church, with Rev. Ben F. Wyland as the speaker. Dr. Benjamin F. Bailey, president of the school board, presented the certificates.

A massed orchestra under the direction of Bernard F. Nevin, representing each of the junior high schools, opened the program with a group of selections, which was followed by the invocation by Rev. J. J. Sheaff of the Epworth Methodist church. Glen M. Case led the audience in singing "America" and then directed a massed junior high school chorus.

Efficiency certificates were presented by Walter S. Whitten, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and piano certificates weer awarded by O. H. Bimson, assistant principal of schools.

The Seven Pillars.

Graphically describing the "Seven Pillars In The Temple Of Life" upon which character is founded, Rev. Wyland told of the great buildings of the world that have stood for years, rich in beauty and history, but declared, "There is another structure more important, and that is the building of character that will outlast generations."

"The first pillar to stand before that temple is industry. More men fail in business for lack of industry than for lack of ability. More men fail in law, in finance, in college life for lack of industry than for lack of ability," averred Rev. Wyland. He declared that education is but a tool, if it does not have industry to animate it.

He listed the second pillar as honesty and said, "It is the granite foundation of all life." Sobriety took the place as the third pillar and in connection with this, Rev. Wyland told of an experience of his in England when he witnessed the saloons of that country.

Love Is Important.

The fourth pillar is Love. Rev. Wyland said in discussing this, "The relationships that hold men and women in perfect and permanent loyalty to each other and highest regard are the only ones that give us abiding satisfaction."

He named reverence as the fifth pillar, declaring that, "To move with indifference or irreverence in the presence of God is not the act of a thoughtful man or woman." Rev. Wyland urged the graduates to ob-

MRS. LANCASTER, INJURED IN CRASH, MAKING NO GAIN

Mrs. Z. E. Lancaster, who was injured critically in the truck-bus crash near Ashland Monday afternoon, has shown no improvement within the past twenty-four hours, attendants said Thursday afternoon. It has been exceedingly difficult for her to hold the gain made following the blood transfusion Tuesday.

Dr. C. H. Arnold said that Elizabeth Newton, 19-year-old Lander, Wyo., girl and Roy Franzen, 22, Lincoln student flier, are considered practically out of danger.

Mrs. Lancaster, whose husband together with Miriam Newton, Elizabeth's sister, and Severin Carlson, also a flying student, died of their injuries, is suffering with internal injuries. She has undergone one blood transfusion, and another may be necessary, physicians say.

FEES ALLOWED STRELOW CASE

Attorneys Who Represented Heirs To Get One-Third.

Lawyer to Divide $28,443 As They May Think Proper.

Two Lincoln law firms, a Crete attorney and an Omaha lawyer are to have $28,443 for winning the celebrated Strelow estate case, by provisions of the final decree in the matter signed Thursday by County Judge Reid. Fighting for 5½ years in the interests of ten nephews and nieces of Charles Strelow against the claims of severals of his neighbors, these attorneys went through a prolonged siege in County court, two lengthy sessions in District court and appeared twice before the Supreme court.

The fees will go to Meier and Meier, Lincoln; Hall, Cline and Williams, Lincoln; Henry J. Beal, Omaha; and Robert R. Hastings, Crete. Distribution of the $28,443, according to the decree, will be made among these attorneys in such manner as they shall agree on among themselves.

Upon the death of Strelow about six years ago, several of his neighbors presented a will to his estate drawn in their behalf and cutting off the nephews and nieces, his only heirs. The "blood" heirs then retained the several groups of attorneys under an understanding that if the case should be successfully contested on their behalf, the attorneys were to have as fees such percentage of the estate as should be held reasonable by the County court. Should the case be

OFFICIALS WALK OUT ON BRYAN

Swanson, Marsh, Bass and Sorensen Get Tired of Waiting.

Governor's Delay Causes State Board Meeting To Be Delayed.

Four executive state officers of Nebraska grew tired of waiting on Governor Bryan at his office Thursday morning for a meeting of the board of educational lands and funds scheduled to take place there at 10:30. After sitting around half an hour or so, during which the governor failed to show up, they got up and walked out.

"Whenever the governor is here and wants to meet, you can notify me at my office and I'll come over," one of the group told F. C. Radke, secretary to Governor Bryan. The others left the same word.

Land Commissioner Dan Swanson, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, Treasurer T. W. Bass, and Attorney General C. A. Sorensen were the board members who declined to wait an indefinite time for Governor Bryan to get to the capitol from wherever he was. They claim their time is just as valuable as the governor's, and if he doesn't show up in time for official appointment it is not their province to hang around until he comes.

No Discourtesy Intended.

One of the officers named said he had no intention of being discourteous to Governor Bryan, but that he had important matters of

As Rogers Sees It

HOLLYWOOD, June 3—Just had an election out here for new councilmen and new sewers, and more people got their crosses mixed up! This is "Cotton Week" all over the south. They have laid by their silks for a week and at all the luncheon clubs the speeches are to be about cotton. That will perhaps disgust all the listeners with ever wearing cotton again. What the south needs is a week called "Steal-the-Farmers'-Cotton-Seed Week." If the south was robbed of all their cotton seed for five years they would be loaning Mellon money.

Yours, WILL.

Miss Guinan Comes Home
Wheat, Copper, Down
Roosevelt on His Way
Ancient Beauty

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Miss Texas Guinan, night club lady of New York, barred from France, also from England, was touched when a gallant Englishman offered to marry her, and to make it possible for her to enter England. But Miss Guinan said no, and sailed away, leaving the gentleman, as he admitted, "without money to get back to London."

Miss Guinan, a philosopher, says, as she sails for home, "an indiscretion a day keeps depression away." She went aboard the ship "wearing a velvet riding habit, patent leather boots and a white beret." The Englishman that didn't marry her is as well off. It would be too much of a job for any one Englishman.

Good news of the wheat crop in Texas, enormous crops. And that, as usual, was bad news for wheat growers. Under our intelligent system of agriculture and marketing, good crops in wheat or cotton mean trouble and poor prices for farmers.

With a cessation of government buying and "pyramiding," the price of American wheat fell sharply yesterday, as might be expected. In one hour June wheat dropped 12½ cents in Chicago.

Old "supply and demand" is patient, waits and wins.

While our farmers mourn about "too much wheat" and other Americans mourn too much cotton, oil, etc., Russia is rejoicing in the certainty of a bumper wheat harvest, a crop of 1,314,000,000 bushels, and a surplus, for dumping, of 250,000,000 bushels.

A great wheat crop means cash for Russia, sorrow for other nations. There must be good business men in Russia, in spite of their "fanciful theories."

Many politicians taking for granted Governor Roosevelt's nomination by the Democrats in 1932 are concentrating on "who will run for vice president?"

It takes a brave or reckless man to undertake the running of this country just now. Those "out of it" are perhaps fortunate. But love of public office is a passion.

A thousand men would have accepted the nomination for mayor of Pompeii after the ashes began falling, if there had been mayors in Pompeii.

Leaders of young people's Catholic organizations in Rome, arrested, are held, possibly for deportation to Lipari, an island penitentiary reserved for political offenders. The honorary general president of the Italian general president of the Italian Catholic young people's organization is among those arrested. Mayor Curley of Boston, now in Rome, after an interview with the Italian king, says the Italian and papal governments will soon straighten out their troubles. But the facts are not encouraging.

The worst of anti-Catholic disturbance is the destruction of beautiful churches and ancient monasteries. Political and religious troubles can be straightened out and forgotten. But ancient works of art destroyed can never be replaced. Respect for their country, if not for their religion, should prevent such irreparable outrages.

In New York two automobiles loaded with gangsters settled their differences yesterday with machine guns in the crowded street. A few were killed. The police know who they are and what beer running organizations and rivalries they represent.

But until rivals in the world of crime and bootlegging begin killing each other in public, police appear unable to do anything about their activities, although they know all about them.

Two boys of 15, starting their New York career of crime early, held up a store, one was shot.

We live in a crime age and bootlegging brought it on us. What brought bootlegging?

The general assembly of the Presbyterian church, in Pittsburgh, approves "a national daily newspaper, to be distinctively Christian in its spirit and outlook, and to stand for our highest ideals." The assembly thinks such a newspaper, "adequately financed," would be of great benefit to the cause of righteousness.

It would, of course, and it would have to be very adequately financed.

It would be hard for the able editor and manager to remain "distinctively Christian in spirit" after being in the newspaper business a little while, and learning how this country is really run.

Could you, for instance, imagine what the good Presbyterian editor would think, feel and say when he discovered that the really enthusiastic supporters of prohibition are bootleggers, gangsters and speakeasy men?

A step in the right direction of common sense is the government's decision not to appeal against the court order authorizing a merger of the Vacuum Oil Co. with the Standard Oil Company of New York. The merger would stop unnecessary waste and expense. It is time to get rid of the hampering, wasteful effects of the antiquated Sherman act.

Conrad Siem, an Alaska pioneer of long ago, dead at the age of 71, has traveled out into unknown regions, in accordance with his own plan. He told Dan Sutherland, Alaska's delegate in congress, that he wanted to be burned and his ashes "thrown from the Arlington bridge on the Potomac river to drift down the river to sea."

As you read, the ashes are drifting, or settling on the bottom of the Potomac mud.

Where is the "featherless biped," formerly called "Conrad Siem?"

That's the important question. Has he also gone on floating down the river of time out into the sea of eternity? or will he come back to be a "pioneer and philosopher" once more?

That is the only question that is really important to all of us, and is the one question we cannot answer.

Last year, Americans ate 1,335,617,903 pounds of candy. Something over 14 per cent of the total amount is supposed to have been eaten by children, which is not enough. Pure candy, of the proper kind, is not merely a good, but an absolutely necessary part of diet in childhood.

Candy is important also for the old. Sugar is the best food for the muscles. And the old, with weakened hearts, should feed the heart muscles directly, by eating candy or sugar.

Wall street had a little "rally" yesterday. And while copper sold at 8 cents, and wheat and cotton were weak, it means that our slump is certainly close to the bottom. When you can buy the most important products, oil, coal, copper, wheat, for less than it costs to produce them, you know that business must soon start up again.

When an elevator reaches the ground floor, it starts up. So with business.

Johnson Resumes Prison Service 38 Years After Escaping Custody

After thirty-eight years of stolen liberty, during which he roamed the world over, married and reared a family, Charles E. Johnson, 66, who went over the wall of the Nebraska prison while a trusty with but seven months of a 7 year sentence left to serve, gave himself up to Warden W. T. Fenton Wednesday afternoon.

It was to fulfill a solemn promise, made while he clung to a reef off the Japanese coast, that Johnson, now an old man, turned his wandering footsteps towards the gray walls of the Nebraska prison, where he can repay his debt to Providence, and ease his insistent conscience. Immediately after the shipwreck, and his rescue, Johnson started back to Nebraska.

Johnson's return shortly after 2.30 o'clock was more like a reunion than the return of an escaped prisoner. Warden Fenton, Deputy Warden Dan Kavanaugh and newspapermen formed a reception committee. The aged adventurer, who stoutly maintains his innocence of the forgery charge that sent him to prison, posed for pictures, went through the routine of checking in, and was escorted around the prison where new sights had replaced those once familiar to him.

Johnson weighed 130 pounds, in contrast to the 170 of his youth, when he was first admitted. His hair is white now. When the warden asked him if he wanted his hair cut, Johnson studied the problem thoughtfully, "Cut it," was his terse decision.

Johnson was given a bunk in the dormitory, and assigned to the vegetable room, where he will prepare vegetables for the prison table. He wanted to go to work immediately, but Warden Fenton smilingly told him he could rest until Thursday.

Valuations Of Gas Pipe Lines Booster

Assessors in Clay and Otoe Counties Increase Figures Agreed Upon By Others.

Tax valuations of gas pipe line properties in Otoe and Clay counties have been raised materially by the county assessing officials there above the returns made by the companies owning the lines. These officials are using a scale of values agreed upon at the state meeting of county assessors held in Lincoln two or three months ago.

County Clerk Arthur Barstler of Otoe county, acting county assessor, has increased the total assessment of the Continental Construction Co. from $184,560, as reported by itself, to $403,725, and that of the Missouri Valley Pipe Line Co. from $155,396 to $326,279.

He valued 24-inch pipeline at $17,500 a mile, where the company's return placed it at $8,000. On 20-inch tubes the company reported $7,000 a mile, which was increased to $13,500.

Raises made by Assessor O. W. Dedrickson of Clay county are as follows:

One 2-inch pipe line, from $710 per mile to $1,065; 4-inch, from $1,255 to $1,835; 6-inch, from $1,955 to $2,920; 10-inch, from $3,500 to $5,160; 16-inch, from $6,000 to $9,000.

Clark Freed On Bail

LOS ANGELES, June 4—(AP)—David H. Clark, charged with what police termed the "racketeer murder" of Charles Crawford, political boss, and Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, was at liberty today under $100,000 bail pending trial.

Clark was released from jail last night shortly after friends and acquaintances had succeeded in completing the bond.

Tuesday Clark was defeated by Charles B. MacCoy, incumbent, for municipal judge, but the accused man polled more than 67,000 votes. MacCoy polled 95,744.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

Mad Pursuit

BY JESSIE DOUGLAS FOX

Synopsis: Julian Lake's unexpected arrival disturbs his daughter, Nora, soon to move to the family home of her late husband, Nicholas Thayer. But her desire to accept the invitation from Jonathon Thayer, his brother, and Damon, his stepsister, persists. Ashamed when she learns that her father has successfully sought a loan from Jon on a pretext of exhibiting his pictures, which Nora knows are valueless, Nora asks Jon to refuse the money. After the angry scene that ensues they find themselves in love. Her happy dream clouds anew when Frances, her cousin, develops tuberculosis and Young Dr. More suggests that she help take care of Fran's children while she is in a sanatorium. Fearing the dashing of her fondest hopes, Nora protestingly refuses.

Chapter 25.
HOPEFUL HALLIE.

Nora hated Fergus More as he stood there in his office judging her, without saying a word. It was a great sacrifice he had asked of her to assume the burden of the little household from which her coming marriage with Jon was to take her. He seemed to be weighing her protesting declaration that her life was her own and that she must live it.

"I think we'll be able to manage," he said at last, "as you say it's your life and self-sacrifice is only self-indulgence," he ended sardonically.

But when she joined the others in the back yards her very restlessness seemed to permeate the air as though they all knew that something hung over them. Yet Aunt Em was sewing as unsuad and Hallie reading the paper.

When Fran had put the children to bed she came back to them. The others, Nora knew, had no inkling of what had happened. But Aunt Em's face looked dnawn and odd tonight. Hallie had been rattling the paper in a nervous way and she began to read aloud in a dry husky vaice:

"She came down the stairs that bright May morning, this girl with her heart-shaped face and honey-colored hair."

"That's enough, Hallie," Aunt Em said.

"It's that awful newspaper tripe," Fran said listlessly.

The paper rattled in Hallie's hand; she stared about from one to the other. They looked up surprised.

"I wrote it," Hallie mumbled.

Fran sprang up and leaned over her shoulder.

"But that's not your name; A. A. Standish. Darling, why didn't you let us know about it?"

"I didn't even know it was taken until I saw it in the evening paper," Hallie said, color burning in her sallow cheeks. "The story's perfect drivel."

"I thought there was something unusual about it the moment I heard it!" Aunt Em said.

They clustered about her crooked shoulders, excited, forgetting everything but this moment's triumph.

"It's awful rot," Hallie insisted, but her chin was trembling.

Nora read it through aloud while they hung on her words. Trite as it was, she had not been able to read through the love scene without faltering. But they were not even looking at her or noticing the tremble in her voice.

"It's charming!" Aunt Em glowed. "How much do you thing they'll pay you for it?" Fran asked breathlessly.

"Well, I don't know. Newspapers are so wealthy—probably $50. Although you often hear of writers getting a thousand."

"But don't you see what it means? It means Hallie can get anything she writes accepted. Oh Hallie, we shan't have to worry about money—oh Hallie, I can't believe it!" Fran was crying.

Aunt Em plunged into plans. Would they get new curtains for the back parlor or some rose bushes?

Hallie said modestly, "Well, I thought we might take a little place in the country Not too far away so that it would be near a good school and the children would love a garden."

Fran's eyes were full of unshed tears.

"I thold you we'd be rich in August!" Aunt Em said, "and you laughed at me, I remember. We must tell this to Fergus. Nora, you run in and get him. How pleased Julian will be! He was telling me about his pictures. He thinks they will all sell. He said he'd never touch a brush again—"

Nora put her arm about Fran and at the light touch Fran looked up. She caught her hand and laid it against her dry burning cheek.

"There is a way out!' 'Fran whispered.

But when Nora went to look for Fergus he was gone. She met her father coming up the steps, and cried gayly:

"I've been having dinner with Jon. He's a fine young fellow, my girl. I tell you our fortune is made!"

It was true as Fran said, they had found the way out. Nora was exultant. Now Fran could go away. She would come back quite well. and Nora could leave them all knowing that they were happy at last.

In the morning when she woke a fretful rain beat against the windows. She and Fran lingered until the last moment so that they could wait for the postman. There was a letter for Hallie from the Evening Press. Hallie tore it open with trembling fingers. Inside was a check for five dollars.

They all knew now that Fran had to go away to a sanatorium in the mountains.

"Don't you envy me," Fran smiled, "escaping this August heat in the city?"

"You always were a lucky dog," Hallie admitted, but her thin hands were working together.

Aunt Em drew Fergus aside.

"You can tell me. I'm her mother. I'd rather know the truth."

He told her simply that there was a good chance for Fran's recovery in the mountains. When he had finished she said:

"You must tell her not to worry about us. We'll manage somehow."

But she sat for a long time looking out of the window, her hands for once idle as she recalled the Fran that had always loved life.

Now that they needed money more than ever, three of Aunt Em's pupils had gone to the country for the summer vacation.

Hallie was working these days with a savage concentration; her eyelids a little swollen as she pounded away on the typewriter late into the hot summer night.

"Look at this," she said, as Nora stopped in the store room.

Hallie held out a letter.

"I am a young girl of seventeen. I love a man ona year older but he has not been true to me. I want to ask you shall I forgive him or not?"

She began to read the answer in a peculiarly sardonic voice:

"Dear Child:

"I too have known the bitterness of love rejected by a faithful heart. But I want you to think first whether you shall hurt him. Think what a woman's heart can do, how is can forgive and forget. And take back your friend into your affections, remembering that he too, dear, is human."

Hallie groaned as she ended, "Isn't that awful? I ask you, could any human being swallow that? But the woman who runs the column in the pulp paper magazine says that my stuff is so full of human interest!"

When she went upstairs Nora found Fran packing.

"How splendid they are!"

"You're just beginning to see," Fran said looking up, and ended, "I'm going tomorrooow."

"Oh Fran!"

"I want to tell you, Nora—I've saved enough money to carry them until I get back. Don't look at me like that! I'm not going to die. I can't—don't you see—" Fran choked. "for I have to come back to the children.

"But if I shouldn't get better, you'll stand by them, won't you? Mother's getting old and Hallie can't bear it alone."

The tears streamed down Nora's cheeks. How could she promise? Yet not to was to crucify Fran. Fran caught Nora's hand and laid it against her hot cheek.

Next morning Fergus took Fran to the station, carrying it off with Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

The great Lord Tennyson in a beautiful poem refers to a woman's Adam's Apple as "The warm white apple of her throat." Consider your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—That is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Protect the delicate tissues within your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants! Reach for a LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which brings you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. It is this exclusive process that expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

CANADIAN TRADE LOSS $25,000,000

Klein Estimates American Exports To Be Cut 4 Per Cent.

Stimson Announces U. S. Considers Tariff As Domestic Question.

WASHINGTON, June 4 — (AP) — A commerce department study of the Canadian tariff revision forecasts that the higher duties may result in American concerns losing $25,000,000 annually in exports to the dominion.

Assistant Secretary Klein, a leading authority on foreign and domestic commerce, in announcing the findings of the study last night, said exports equalling approximately 4 per cent of the 1930 shipments to Canada would be "imperiled" by the changes.

Last year Canada absorbed American goods valued at $659,325,000, while United States' total exports amounted to about $3,500,000,000.

No Protest Planned.

Klein made his statement after Secretary Stimson announced no protest would be made to Canada over the revision because this country considered tariff as a domestic question exclusively.

Canada, Klein suggested, made the revision in an effort to alleviate its unemployment situation. He added it was obvious the dominion was "putting herself in a favorable position" for conferences on reciprocal tariffs among the British dominions next fall. He recalled that Canada was economically a new land and had been using a high protective tariff to develop a more evenly balanced economic status. Excessive seasonal variations, he continued, made such a policy inevitable as a means of equalizing employment irregularities.

Large U. S. Investments.

American investments in Canada, he noted, amounted to between $3,600,000,000 and $3,900,000,000, while those of British interests amounted to about $2,300,000,000.

The statement did not designate all commodities affected but it was recalled that anthracite coal, hitherto on the free list, was assessed 40 cents a ton as compared with 35 cents charged on British coal and that oranges were taken from the free list and taxed 35 cents a cubic foot, or approximately 70 cents a box. It also was noted that the duty on bituminous coal, of which Canada has bee ntaking about $25,000,000 worth annually from the United States, was increased from 50 cents to 75 cents a ton.

Toe Worth $50,000

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—One toe is worth $50,000 to Alberto K. Ferreyros, professional dancer.

A jury awarded that sum to the dancer in a suit against the Fox Theaters corporation. The dancer lost the second toe of the left foot when it was caught in moving stage equipment.

The defendant showed a motion picture of Ferreyros dancing ten months after the mishap but the plaintiff claimed he was unable to do a whirlwind dance for which he was famous after the injury.

SIXTEEN GRADUATE FROM UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Sixteen students of the University school of music received diplomas at the thirty-seventh annual commencement exercises held Wednesday evening at the Temple theater. Five certificates were also presented.

The exercises were opened with the invocation pronounced by Rev. Dean R. Leland. Chancellor E. A. Burnett then introduced Prof. Harry F. Cunningham, who delivered the commencement address on "The Music of Life."

"Music and poetry are closely allied," Prof. Cunningham declared. "Perhaps music is even a form of poetry. At any rate, the two have combined to bring joy to a great number of people.

"Since heaven has blessed you with gifts that not all may have," the speaker continued, addressing the graduates, "give freely of your talent that all may enjoy it. All true artists give freely of their talents for the benefit of the world. Even though the artist suffers because of misunderstanding and lack of appreciation on the part of others, he enjoys displaying his talent."

At the close of the address, Howard Kirkpatrick, acting director of the school, presented the diplomas and certificates to the following students:

SENIOR CLASS AT FREMONT LARGEST

(Special to The Star)

FREMONT, Neb., June 4—A class of 144, largest in the history of the Fremont high school, will be graduated with exercises at the high school auditorium Friday evening. The previous record class was in 1925, when the number of graduates was 135. W. E. Sealock, president of Omaha university is to be the commencement orator.

Large enrollment at the high school during the past school year is attributed by Principal L. C. Wicks to industrial conditions. Young people do not quit school to take jobs when there are no jobs available, he says.

Chicagoan, 72, Gets Two Licenses to Wed Within Two Days Time

CHICAGO, June 4—(AP)—The coffers of the marriage license bureau will grow considerably if Bezenik Karezbalm, 72, keeps this up.

Monday he appeared at the bureau, slapped two dollars down on the counter and got the state's permission to marry Peral Goldman, 60, a widow.

Yesterday Karezbalm was back.

"And what now?" asked the clerk.

"Another license please," said Karezbalm as he dug down in his pockets for another license, this time to marry another widow, Eva Chubin, 58.

"What's the matter with your first girl?" inquired the surprised clerk.

"She changed her mind," said Karezbalm.

FINISH BUS AND TRUCK INQUIRY

Commerce Commission To Submit Report On Findings.

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission has completed a two-year inquiry into the nation's bus and truck transportation question and plans to submit recommendations on its findings to the next congress.

Before the final report is drafted, however, the commission will have laid before it recommendations of the study by its examiners on the basis of evidence placed before them by organizations, railroads and persons during the rearings. The examiners' study will have to be adopted, rejected or changed after arguments are submitted to the commission.

The commission now has authority to regulate interstate bus and truck transportation and railroads are not permitted to engage in highway traffic directly.

Two years ago the commission, after being told by railroads that the truck and bus systems were making serious inroads into their traffic both freight and passenger, initiated the proceeding with a view to trying to develop co-ordination between highway and railroad transportation.

Under the direction of Commissioner Brainard, Examiners Flynn and Stephan held hearings in every section of the country. Railroad employes and executives, bus and truck operators, civic organizations and state regulatory bodies were heard.

At the close of the hearings here recently all parties were given until June 1 to file briefs.

Nancy Carroll And Kirkland Awaiting Divorce In Mexico

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, June 4—(AP)—The romance of Nancy Carroll and Jack Kirkland, which blossomed under the lights of New York's Broadway seven years ago when she was a chorus girl and he a press agent, has led to a mutual suit for divorce here.

In New York Kirkland, a playwright, said that their romance, which for the little red-head was the beginning of a career that carried her to film stardom, "just went out the window."

To his mind the end is only a "realization that to continue being happy we must respect each other's independence." The actress was quoted as telling friends their careers were more necessary now than marriage.

Both were in New York when the suit was filed yesterday by an attorney. No accusation was contained in the action, the grounds merely being mutual consent. The attorney said a decision probably would be returned in forty days.

When they met back in 1924, Miss Carroll was in the chorus of a Broadway musical show at $35 a week and Kirkland was reported receiving a salary of $250 weekly. As a film star, her salary is reported to be $5,000 a week.

The couple has a daughter, Patricia, 5.

Mott, Who Gave Up Millions To Elope With Opera Singer Halfway Around World, Dies

Strange Adventure and Romance of "Millionaire Reporter" Ends; Refused to Heed Father's Plea To Leave Mrs. Bowne, Undivorced.

LOS ANGELES, June 4—(AP)—A life of strange adventure and romance leading halfway around the world at the price of forfeiture of a fortune of $25,000,000 has ended with the death of Maj. Jordan Lawrence Mott, 50, once New York's "millionaire reporter."

In late years a nationally known sportsman and author, Major Mott had lived on Santa Catalina island. He spent the summers at a camp on the North Umpqua river near Roseburg, Ore., where death occurred yesterday.

At his bedside was his widow, the former Francis Hewitt Bowne, once a light opera singer, for whom he forsook the fortune of his father, J. L. Mott, New York iron manufacturer.

Covered Stories in Style.

Shortly after his graduation from Harvard, Mott went to work as a reporter in New York. He covered his assignments on news stories in an imported limousine driven by a chauffeur.

His first marriage was an unhappy one, and during his domestic difficulties he met Mrs. Bowne, who like himself, had experienced an unfortunate marital life.

In May 1912, they decided to elope, although neither had been divorced, and as they later told the story, they defied conventions and sailed for Europe from New York on a trap steamer, the Indrideo.

Pursued to China.

The departure of the couple was followed by a frantic effort by Mott's father to make his son give up the romance. Giving Hector Fuller, a New York newspaperman, unlimited financial backing the father sent him in pursuit of the couple. Fuller boarded a fast steamer but arrived in Gibraltor two hours after they had left.

The chase led to Port Said and thence to Hong Kong where Fuller finally caught up with them. Mott refused to accede to entreaties. He lost his right to his father's fortune estimated at $25,000,000. To earn a living he worked at odd jobs in the far corners of the world while Mrs. Bowne gave concerts.

Both Later Divorced.

In 1920 Mrs. Bowne's husband, a millionaire, obtained a divorce and seven years later Mrs. Mott divorced the adventurer.

By that time the couple had returned to the United States, and were living on Santa Catalina island. In October, 1928, they were married at Merced, Cal. a year before Mott's mother, wealthy in her own right and a collector of Napoleonic relics, had died leaving her son only $25,000.

Mott then was earning $20 a day renting boats and catching swordfish. In his spare time he wrote fiction. He was the author of a successful novel, "Jules of the Great Love." Much of his time was devoted to campaigns for protection of natural game.

Stimson to Study World Problems On Europe Tour

WASHINGTON, June 4 — (AP) — International problems will be studied at first hand this summer by Secretary Stimson.

The secretary of state and Mrs. Stimson plan to leave this month for an unofficial tour of Europe. Although the secretary's party will be as informal as possible, he is expected by officials here to take advantage of every opportunity to study the questions confronting European countries.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany particularly interest the secretary, and he has intimated he would call on the foreign ministers of those governments. It is customary for a secretary of state to pay his respects to officers of similar rank while traveling abroad.

Secretary Stimson desires to obtain the views of European government officials on their respective economic and political problems, especially those relating to the worldwide economic situation and questions concerning the general disarmament conference at Geneva next February.

GIRL'S SLAYER IS NEAR DEATH

15-Year-Old Wisconsin Miss Killed By Man She Shot.

WINONA, Minn., June 4—(AP)—Formally accused of murder by a coroner's jury, Roy Ashley of Beaver Dam, Wis., lay near death in a hospital today, after confessing slaying Evelyn Brown, 15, also of Beaver Dam.

He shot the girl after enticing her from her home early yesterday on the pretext of taking her for a ride. When they reached a farm near here Ashley stopped to fill the automobile radiator with water.

Evelyn shouted that she had been kidnaped and Ashley threw a bottle at her. She seized a revolver and shot him in the abdomen. Ashley took the gun, hit her over the head and drove a short distance. Then he shot her.

Evelyn's body will be sent to Beaver Dam for burial.

Physicians this morning abandoned hope for Ashley's recovery. They said he was not expected to live more than forty-eight hours.

Ashley told authorities, in amplifying his confession of yesterday, he had become infatuated with the girl and had planned to take her to Montana.

NEW YORK, June 4—(AP)—Rudolph C. Duringer, 25, Ossining truck driver, was convicted early today of murder, first degree, for the killing of Virginia Brannen, dance hall hotess.

Justice Cohn said he would pronounce the mandatory sentence next Monday which will condemn Duringer to the electric chair in Sing Sing prison in his home town.

Duringer was calm and stoical when he heard the verdict which the jury returned shortly before 2 a. m., after seven hours of deliberation.

Miss Branner, who came to New York from Bangor, Me., was shot during an automobile ride in the Bronx, April 27.

Duringer said he shot her accidentally when she clutched his revolver. He then drove to Yonkers and tossed her body behind a hedge.

Another member of the automobile party was Francis Crowley, now in the Sing Sing death house for the slaying of a Long Island policeman.

John H. Agee, president of the chamber of commerce, issued a message of welcome to the 4-H delegates and a response was given by Mervin Aegerter of Seward, winner of the livestock fitting contest for 4-H club members at the recent Amaha Ak-Sar-Ben. Another brief address was that of J. C. Seacrest who told of some of the developments in education and industry during the past few years.

The program closed with sleight of hand tricks by Ray Ramsay.

DON'T DENY YOURSELF the joys of BEER

TUNE IN KFAB—Monday, Wednesday, Friday—9:15 A. M.

2 bottles FREE see coupon

If you miss beer, it is only because you do not know these facts:

There is a brew, called Atlas Special Brew, which is even better than the best of old. It is made by the same masters who made Atlas Beer, always famous in Chicago. And they take special care, so you won't miss beer.

Not a "near-beer," without age or zest. We use the old-time process, skill and materials. But now we treat the water, so you get here the mellow flavor of famous European brews.

Flavor, Tang and Zest

After the brewing we evaporate most of the alcohol. But you don't miss that. If you compared this brew before and after the alcohol removal, you could not tell the difference.

Alcohol was only a small factor in good beer.

What people liked in beer was the foam and flavor, the sparkle and the zest. They liked it in the evenings as a social drink, at dinners as a help to digestion, at night as an aid to sleep.

All those delights remain to you in Atlas Special Brew. And few have ever tasted an old-time brew as good.

Don't Spoil This Joy

Don't turn to rank substitutes. Atlas Special Brew will bring back at their best all the helps and joys of old. Just be sure of the name—Atlas Special Brew. A famous laboratory, on every bottle, certifies its purity.

The coupon will bring you two bottles with our compliments. Mail it to us, and bring back the old days to your home.

Fugitive Prisoners Claim They Are Innocent; Omaha Mother Risks Life When Son-In-Law Shoots

TWO BREAK OUT MADISON JAIL

Men Accused Holding Up Norfolk Theater Make Escape.

Leave Note Expressing Regret at Inconvenience Caused.

MADISON, Neb., June 4—(AP)—John Charpinsky and Ed "Dutch" Peterson, held in jail here pending trial for robbing the Granada theater at Norfolk, escaped early today.

Evidently they made a key, unlocked the cage, dug a hole in the west wall of the jail and fled, stealing Thomas Dover's Hudson automobile for their flight.

Arraigned in District court yesterday before Judge Clinton Chase, they pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for next week.

Ten other prisoners made no attempt to escape.

Seen Running Away

The men were seen running from the jail at 5 a. m. by Mrs. Monroe Smith, wife of the jailer. They left a note addressed to Smith. It follows:

"I'm sorry this had to be done. But we don't feel as though we should take a sentence for something we are not guilty of because we have no money. We can't collect our witnesses and without witnesses Tews and Bussey would swear us into Lincoln. We could have got out otherwise but we chose this as the best for all concerned.

"It makes it inconvenient for you we know, but believe us when we say we're really sorry it has to be. Sincerely,

"JOHN CHERKINSKY, ED PETERSON.

"P. S. Don't blame any of the boys. They don't know what it's all about. J. C. and D. P."

County Attorney Carl H. Peterson blamed the escape on the crowded conditions in the jail. The ten other men locked in the cell made twelve in a compartment designed to hold eight.

Madison county's jail is old and several escapes have occurred during recent years including a number in recent months.

Identified Men

Fred Bussey and August Tews, to whom the note referred, are custodian and assistant manager, respectively of the Granada theater which was robbed March 16 of $1,232. Bussey was bound by two men and kept prisoner for two hours while waiting for Tews to appear. Tews was then forced to open the safe and hand over to the robbers two days' theater receipts.

Bussey and Tews went to Sioux City and identified Cherpinsky and Peterson as the robbers and testified at their preliminary hearing here.

EARLY NEBRASKA NEWSPAPER TO BE OFFERED SOCIETY

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., June 4—Mrs. Maud K. Peterson will present to the Nebraska Historical society a copy of the Nebraska Pioneer bearing the date of January 21, 1858. The newspaper was edited and published by her father, Lewis M. Kline, at Cuming City, the original townsite of Blair. The familiar phrase of the day, "Squatter sovereignty" is prominently displayed in a banner at the top of the front page and the leading article is devoted a discussion of trouble resulting from the adjournment of the territorial legislature from Omaha to Florence, which was due, the paper says, to "the indignities and outrages to which the legislators had been subjected in Omaha." They were compelled to adjourn to Florence, the paper says, "in order that they might pursue their labors unmolested, and be secure from further outrages." Kline, the editor, settled at Kanesville, now Council Bluffs, in 1850, where he served as the first mayor.

ERECTS NEW BUILDING.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 4—A new building is being erected on East Court street by George Frolick to cost about $6,000. It will be occupied by Ned Domino of Lincoln as a wholesale fruit store.

GYPSY QUEEN IS DEAD IN OMAHA

Member Zingari Royalty Passes Away After Brief Illness.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—Stricken on the dusty trails of Gypsy travels, Queen Mary Soken-John, who with her husband, King John Soken-John, ruled over 500 gypsy families, has made her last pilgrimage.

Death ended the trail for Queen Mary last night. For four days and nights she had lain desperately ill in a hospital here. The best room, the best attendants and the best doctors in Omaha had been obtained for her by King John.

"A fever—fever in the brain," said King John when questioned about the illness. Three weeks ago while the caravan of 24 families had been making its way over the sand hills of Western Nebraska, Queen Mary was taken ill.

From then on until Omaha was reached the caravan was a weary and apprehensive one. Three times the dusty but expensive motor cars halted at Nebraska towns to obtain medical treatment for the ailing ruler.

Sunday they reached Omaha and Queen Mary was carried to the hospital by four stalwart sons.

Queen Mary, her subjects said, was descended from a long line of Portugese Gypsy royalty. Portugal being the homeland of the tribe.

Queen Mary, who was the mother of 18 children, was 50 years old. King John today said he had not yet decided where she will be buried.

HASTINGS MUSEUM VISITED BY MANY

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., June 4—Approximately 6,000 visitors, representing 250 towns in Nebraska and Kansas visited the Hastings museum during the month of May, records at the institution revealed today. Classes from many schools have found the institution a valuable place for study, and A. M. Brooking, curator, is frequently called upon to give lectures to visiting student bodies.

Magna Cum Laude

BAYARD, Neb., June 4 — Miss Frances Burnham of Bayard led the honor graduates of the Chadron state normal college, with a magna cum laude average for her college work. She has completed the work for the bachelor of arts degree in less than the usual four years. While in school she served as president of the local chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, national English fraternity; treasurer and program chairman of the Y. W. C. A.; member of the women's Athletic association, Pep club, Philomathean society, and Kappa Theta sorority. She will teach Latin and English at Hay Springs next year. This the fourth time that Miss Burnham has had the highest honors in her class. She led her eighth grade class with an average of 98, the highest in Morrill county that year. Her high school average was 96, and she received her two year diploma from the Chadron state normal college with magna cum laude honors. She plans to receive her masters degree from the University of Nebraska.

SHORT SESSION NOT EXPECTED

Only One Omaha Legislator Looks For Early Ending.

OMAHA, June 4—Douglas county legislators, with one exception, are not hopeful of a short special session of the Nebraska legislature beginning June 9, and some of them feel there may be another deadlock over the general appropriations bill.

Representative Karl Kehm, chairman of the house committee on state institutions, returning from Lincoln, believes there will be a session of only a few days and Governor Bryan will give the state institutions what they need. He is almost alone in that view.

Senator John W. Cooper believes the senate will not consent to much trimming of the $44,000,000 appropriations bill passed by that body in the regular session.

"If Governor Bryan insists on his budget being adopted as introduced in the regular session, and if he can hold the house in line again, there will be another deadlock," Cooper said.

Believes Budget Inadequate.

Senator Harry K. Easton, democrat, agreed with Cooper. He said he did not believe the Bryan budget adequate.

"New buildings and additions are badly needed at a number of state institutions," Easton said. "Failure to provide for those buildings will make such a small saving in taxes that not even the smallest property owner will feel it. Buildings can be constructed more cheaply than for many years and their erection will give employment to many men out of work."

Senator Gus Dworak and Representative Trenmore Cone, democrats, said they would fight for a separate vote on third reading on each division of the general budget.

Senator James A. Rodman said he would insist upon state institutions being given adequate appropriations.

"I will not be a party to a program that will fail to protect these unfortunate wards of the state," Rodman said. "I do not believe Governor Bryan's budget will be adopted."

Representative Ed A. Smith, republican, who voted for the Bryan budget, said he believed there would be a compromise, but not until another legislative battle had been staged.

Representative Ervin E. Rholff, democrat, who opposed the Bryan budget, said early agreement at the special session rested with the governor.

"If he will liberalize his budget and provide needed appropriations for state institutions and activities, I think the legislature can agree quickly," Rohlff said. "Otherwise there probably will be another deadlock."

Senator W. L. Randall and Representative Walter Johnson are other legislators who do not believe there will be a short session.

WOMAN IS SHOT, SAVES DAUGHTER

Throws Self Front Younger Woman as Son-In-Law Fires.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—Throwing herself in front of her daughter to shield the younger woman from the gunfire of the latter's husband, Mrs. Philomena Barone, 44, was shot through the right thigh here last night by her son-in-law, James Glynn, who fled after the shooting.

Traced through the license number of his automobile, Glynn was captured several hours later, sitting in his car on a south side street. He was fondling a revolver, and told officers he had been contemplating suicide.

The shooting occurred at the Barone home, where Mrs. Glynn had fled in fear of her husband. Shortly after she reached there, Glynn entered the house, brandished a pistol and threatened to kill his wife.

As he raised the gun to shoot, Mrs. Barone flung herself between the pair. Glynn fired four times, only one bullet striking Mrs. Barone.

Mr. Barone, attracted to the house by the shots, grappled with Glynn, but was hurled into a corner after wresting the pistol form his son-in-law. The gun which officers later found in Glynn's possession was one he had purchased after the shooting.

Grain Receipts For Omaha Much Heavier

More Than Twice As Much As For Month of May Last Year, But Shipments Not So Great.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—Omaha business indicators for May, tabulated by the chamber of commerce, revealed a gain of 11.8 per cent in grain receipts as compared with May of 1930. Total receipts were 5,703,200 bushels, compared with 2,694,200 bushels in May 1930.

Though grain shipments of 5,730,400 bushels last month were a decrease of 12.2 per cent compared with a year ago, they represent an increase of 28.3 per cent over the five year average.

Livestock receipts of 625,353 head represented a decrease of 7.6 per cent compared with a year ago but an increase of 6.8 per cent over the five year average for May. A total of 417,026 head of stock was brought to Omaha during the month by Omaha packers, an increase of 2 per cent over the five year average, but a decrease of 15.5 per cent over a year ago.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—Calling police headquarters by phone and telling the desk sergeant to send officers after him, Fred Kueppers, 34, Meridian, Conn., surrendered to police early last night and confessed that he had helped rob a theater at Salinas, Cal., on May 25.

After police had taken him to headquarters, Kueppers asked for the detective chief and then confessed. "It was my first crime and I haven't been able to eat or sleep since," he said as he handed a detective $175 which he said was part of his share of the theater loot.

Kueppers said he knew his partner in the holdup only as "Bill." "Bill," he said, held the gun while he (Kueppers) bound the theater manager. Kueppers said he was enroute to Fort Wayne, Ind., when he decided to confess.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—With Tiny Sara Rodriguez, two-year-old, black eyed Mexican babe, lying in a critical condition at her home here today of burns, her mother, who is fearful of American hospitals and medical practices, for the third successive day refused permission to have the child taken to a hospital.

A police surgeon who attended the girl Tuesday after her dress caught fire while she and a sister were playing with matches, advised Mrs. Victor Rodriguez, the mother, that there was little hope of her recovery unless she were rushed to a hospital.

"No one can care for my baby the way I can," was her reply in Spanish. She was adamant.

UNION PACIFIC TO START PICKUPS SOON

Application For Immediate Effect Of Delivery Plan Made to Rail Commission.

In pursuance of the Union Pacific railroad's plan, announced a week ago, to inaugurate pickup and delivery service between points in Nebraska, an application was filed by its subsidiary highway transportation, the Union Pacific Stages, with the state railway commission Thursday forenoon, proposing a schedule of rates for such service to be furnished jointly by railroad freight and truck or bus.

The purpose is to establish this service on one day's notice as soon as the commission has approved she tariff. About 100 cities and towns in the state will receive the benefits immediately. As rapidly as possible the service will be extended to other points served by the Union Pacific.

Packages will be picked up by truck at the shipper's residence or place of business, hauled to the freight depot, carried by train to the destination point, and delivered there to a designated address within the city or village limits. The charge will be based on weight and distance.

$ Fix Extra Charge.

If the shipper does not wish the pickup delivery service, he may eliminate 5 cents from the charge at either end, or 10 cents altogether, by taking the package to the depot himself and having the consignee call for it at the other end. The extra service may be had at one end and not at the other, if desired, by paying the 5 cents.

Pickup and delivery facilities will also extend to points on the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad, which is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Union Pacific.

Shipments may be made C. O. D., and the regulations will be less strict in regard to manner of packing than those of the western trunk lines railroad organization. The agent at plae of shipment will decide whether a package is in reasonably good shape to withstand damage in transit.

BEECHER STRESSES 4-H CITIZENSHIP

Hastings Bishop Speaks at Convocation of Club Thursday Morning; Plan Banquet.

The man and woman is more important than the farm or home product of 4-H club work, Bishop George Beecher of Hastings, said in his convocation talk Thursday morning at club week on the agricultural college campus. He told the boys and girls to strive to be perfect citizens of the state while they were producing their championship products.

It is important that spectators at a fair see a clean wholesome exhibitor as well as a perfect club product, he maintained. A person's good name, his family, his pride, are all possessions to be respected and cherished, the bishop declares.

Two classes of pioneers came to Nebraska in the early days, he said. One group came to build homes and communities, the other to live off the honest people. The former have built the state, the latter have been forgotten as individuals.

The last convocation period of the 4-H club week group closed with songs led by T. C. Diers, university radio announcer. Lillian Helms Polley of the university school of music sang a number of songs at the opening of the period.

Practically all the college faculty devoted Thursday afternoon to the campus tours of the 4-H visitors. The annual faculty 4-H banquet is scheduled Thursday evening.

Ernie Butchell of De Paul university may not be able to play football in the fall because of a knee injury sustained in spring practice.

Favor Dismissing Bankruptcy Action Against Segrist

Dismissal of the involuntary bankruptcy action of the McClaren Rubber Co., Ajax Rubber Co. and the Lincoln National Bank and Trust Co. against Louis J. Segrist of Lincoln, is recommended in the report of Special Master D. H. McClenahan being considered by Federal Judge T. C. Munger. Time for the petitioners to file objections will be given, before the judge issues his order.

The petitioners claimed that Segrist committed an act of bankruptcy when he permitted the sale of a lot belonging to him for taxes by the sheriff of Lancaster county. The petition alleged a conspiracy between Segrist and his son, George L. Segrist, to remove the property from possible seizure to satisfy debts to the three companies. George Segrist bought the land back from the purchaser at the tax sale.

McClenahan, in his report, declares that there is no evidence of conspiracy, concealment of assets, or any act of bankruptcy of any kind.

STATE ALLEGES SPECIFIC ACTS

Discriminatory Sales are Charged Against Safeway Stores.

Specific instances of alleged price discrimination in the injunction suit brought by Attorney General C. A. Sorensen against the Safeway Stores are set out in an amended petition filed Thursday in District court. The action follows a recent order by District Judge Chappell sustaining a motion of counsel for the defendant that the attorney general set out the place, time and nature of discriminatory acts he charged were committed by the stores.

Sorensen is seeking to have the stores enjoined from selling goods at varying prices in different communities over and beyond such variance as is necessarily caused by a difference in freight rates and handling charges.

Among the acts complained of by the attorney general are the following:

That the stores on January 30, 1930, sold four pounds of a certain brand of coffee at 8507 North Thirtieth street, Omaha, for 49 cents and four pounds of the same kind of coffee at 6604 North Thirtieth street, for 95 cents.

That on February 4, 1930, the stores sold one pound of coffee at 3502 Leavenworth street, Omaha for 45 cents, the same kind of coffee at 2912 Leavenworth street for 42 cents and the identical brand at 2305 Leavenworth street for 47 cents.

That on August 20, 1930, the stores sold pork chops at 3021 Farnam street, Omaha, for 22½ cents per pound and at 2305 Leavenworth street for 16½ cents per pound.

That on February 17, 1930, the stores sold a dozen eggs at 316 North Pine street, Grand Island, for 29 cents and a dozen eggs at Fourth and Walnut streets for 27 cents.

That on September 1 7to 20, inclusive, two pound boxes of a certain brand of crackers were sold at North Platte and Kearney stores for 29 cents and at a Lexington store for 35 cents, and at the same time three pound boxes of the same kind of crackers were being retailed at the Cozad store for 29 cents.

That on October 3, 1930, the stores sold two packages of pancake flour at 8507 North Thirtieth street, Omaha, for 52 cents and at Thirtieth and Ames streets for 64 cents.

No sooner had the words left her mouth than she realized her mistake. "A loan is not a gift," she had said, when her Peggy wanted to keep Mary's doll.
Then, suddenly she remembered the bills on the table—long past due. Had she the right to preach?
Only that morning she had received a letter from one of her creditors and had lightly tossed it aside. Now she re-read it, with thoughtful eyes...
"Dear Mrs. B...." the letter read. "We are sorry to trouble you about the balance on your account, but it is to the benefit of both of us that we reach an understanding.
"We realize, of course, that many things may have conspired to make it difficult to take care of this, and we are only too glad to offer our help.
"But in many cases, we find that people put off paying their bills... or forget them... or find more immediate uses for their money. If they realized just how much their credit means to them, we feel sure that they'd be more eager to keep it!
"Please remember, though, that we are anxious and willing to help you.
"If circumstances do not permit your prompt payment, please let us know. Like so many other women, you would probably find our new booklet helpful in your use of credit. It is entitled, 'How to Use Credit to Your Best Advantage'. Write for it and we will send it to you without cost."
Let us help you, too, as we have helped so many others. Rid yourself of worries about bills, and use your credit freely with a happy mind.

APPEAL IS MADE FOR OIL TARIFF

Carriers Warned Against Rate Boost at Chamber Convention.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., June 4—(AP)—Arguments for enactment of a protective tariff on behalf of the petrcleum industry and a warning to railroads against freight rate increases were presented to the National Association of State Chambers of Commerce in session here today.

William Estes, Oklahoma City, also submitted as a resolution a telegram to President Hoover from Congressman Disney, Tulsa, Okla., urging the calling of a special session of congress to make a complete investigation of the oil business with special attention to the price fixing agencies.

In pleading for a protective tariff for petrolcum, Estes declared the oil industry "lies prostrate before us, almost a total wreck."

"If Canada and other nations can build tariff walls against our products, and if our nation can build a tariff wall to protect other industries, why should the petroleum industry be discriminated against?" the speaker asked.

J. E. Fredrich, Kokomo, Ind., president of the association, said it was hard to fathom the reasoning of railroads that moves them to ask for increased rates when the earnings of their shippers are low, if not altogether absent, due to low prices of the commodities and diminished production.

MISS GOLDSTEIN REGAINS LEAD

Heads List 'Miss Victory' Candidates; Rose Flynn Second.

"All the King's horses and all the King's men," only in this instance it's the strength of the Burlington railroad employes being thrown behind the candidacy of La Verne Goldstein in the campaign for the title of "Miss Victory" which carries with it a brand new Chevrolet auto donated to the vetverans by the DuTeau Chevrolet Co. Officials and employes are entering into their support of Miss Goldstein, their official candidate, with all the fervor of a political battle and are hopeful of placing their candidate on the top of the list, when the final tabulations of ballots is made July 3.

Miss Goldstein heads the list of candidates for the second time since the start of the contest which is only one week old, however, she is being hard pressed for the top position by Rose Flynn who was sent to second place by her friends and backers in today's count. All candidates made advances in the day's count and, a new leader may be expected to head the list at any date.

The "Miss Victory" candidates will be guests of the American Legion at a special meeting at the club room next Monday night. Following the meeting the young women with their escorts will be the guests of Capital Beach at another specially arranged party by the Legion under whose auspices the "Miss Victory" contest is being conducted.

Following is the stands of the candidates:

La Verne Golstein	6,000
Rose Flynn	5,500
Helen Wheeler	5,150

Problem of Cutting Pie for Three Is Solved

NEW YORK — (AP) — There are three new methods for trisecting an arc—or an angle—one of the age-old puzzles of mathematics.

If you think you can cut a slice of pie into three equal slices—don't bet—a lot of great minds have failed.

Yet this trisecting of an angle looks easier than the simplest cross word puzzle. Only a pencil and a sheet of paper are needed to try it, a fascinating game.

The reward for winning—knowledge that you probably are a mathematical genius.

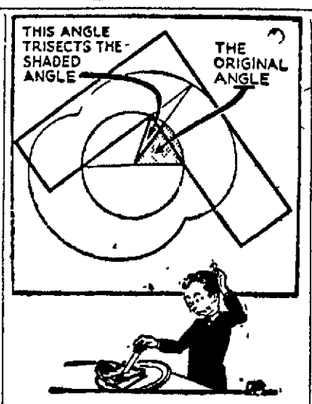
Texas, Harvard and Boston respectively supply the latest solutions. The angle may be any one you choose, like a V, or even more than 180 degrees.

From Texas comes a formula for doing it, copyrighted by Dr. George E. Long of San Antonio. He starts with the diameter of the circle of which the arc forms a part. This diameter he uses as one side of an equilateral triangle. He connects the ends of the arc. It takes an engineer to follow all the steps.

The Harvard method depends upon a device resembling a carpenter's square which has been patented by its inventor, Oscar L. Turner, a graduate student.

His square enables him to lay out on one side of the angle to be divided a smaller one which is precisely one-third the size of one to be trisected.

The third new method was announced recently by Prof. Harold A. Zager, head of the department of mathematics of Boston college, and George A. Hurd, a Boston manufacturer. Instead of working with a circle they employ squares and angles.



How to cut a slice of pie into three equal pieces—that is, to trisect an angle. Drawing shows latest Harvard method. It's one of the almost "impossible" tricks of the ages.

Who Does Not Practice Clothes Economies This Year?

Mr. Lacey's business, like that of every one else, had been slow. Mrs. Lacey hated to worry him with too frequent requests for money and yet, she found that dressing herself and three daughters called for more than she thought she ought to spend. She devised economies and studied every expenditure.

She found that it was economy to buy two pairs of stockings of the identical shade. Then if one stocking had a run, a hole at ankle or heel, it was easy to replace it with one from the reserve pair. In working this scheme she had to rotate the wearing so that one pair had not had so many washings that the color texture was changed. She also found that it was economy to have two pairs of shoes and to wear one pair for a day or two and then to change to the other pair. Strange as it may seem, the leather lasted longer if given rests between wearings.

In buying gloves she chose the washable kind. With textile gloves this was simple. But there were certain points of technique to be observed in washing leather ones. Pigskin should be scrubbed both inside and out in mild soap suds and then rinsed until every trace of soap is gone. Chamois gloves should be washed in mild soap suds and rinsed in water in which there is slight soapiness.

White leather bags could be cleaned, she found by using art gum or spongy rubber erasers. When extremely soiled a cream cleaner used for white gid gloves would do the trick.

She found that the life of many clothes was increased by frequent trips to a good dry cleaning establishment.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

BY ROBBINS COONS.

HOLLYWOOD — The craze for gangster pictures is dying, slowly but surely, yet the producers seem reluctant to abandon such a profitable theme without at least the comfort of lingering farewells.

In the new film programs the gang has its place, but no longer is that place the center of the spotlight. It is a sinister force, largely in the background, affecting the lives of more or less reputable people.

Edward G. Robinson, "Little Caesar," is becoming a reputable business man in "The World Changes"—a man who seeks revenge for the killing of his son by gangsters. Probably he'll put the underworld to rout.

"Young Donovan's Kid," the new title of "Big Brother," with Richard Dix and Jackie Cooper, shows the underworld influence, but is essentially a heart-interest yarn.

The Same But Less.

Then there is "The Star Witness," portraying the unhappy results when one member of an innocent family accidentally sees a gang killing, and "Larceny Lane," which, it is emphasized, is a love story and not a gangster expose, although its setting is a hotel frequented by crooks.

Appearing in this are Joan Blondell and James Cagney, who were teamed formerly in the gory "The Public Enemy," the latest picture to resuscitate the cycle of gangster themes.

"The Mouthpiece"—gangsterese, I believe, for defense attorney — is a story of the criminal courts. Perhaps this will give opportunity to round up all the gangster heroes — those who haven't been taken for a ride already—and prosecute them legally, effectively, and get them off the screen once and for all.

Brunettes Take Bow.

More dark heads of Hollywood are being transformed overnight into blonds, with Joan Crawford the latest to undergo the transformation

There must be an explanation, and Percy Westmore, make-up and hair-dressing expert at First National, offers one:

"It's because a blond with a brunette personality," he says, "is the perfect combination for the screen.

"For some reason or other, natural blonds seldom photograph well. Therefore most of the blonds you see on the screen are really brunets who have blondined their hair. Bebe Daniels is an example of stunning brunet beauty made more effective by blond hair."

Not the Same

The girl who was Joan Crawford before she settled down to love and marriage was not the actress that Joan Crawford since has become.

The Joan who used to be gay and giddy and voluble about the set has become a young lady who sits quietly on the sidelines or in her private dressing room, sewing meditatively or reading — and she has become, with the change, a better actress.

Which brings us to the point, which may be of at least casual interest, that most of Hollywood's big dramatic stars are those who live more or less within themselves, generating their own artistic energies, rather than mingling constantly with the throng, drawing stimulation from the crowds.

Aloof.

Charles Chaplin, who has few intimates, is the prime example. Chaplin, with all his eccentricities, his moods, his decided penchants, at time, for solitude, has stood above other comedians because in his work there is a genuine emotional appeal.

Other comedians — Jack Oakie, Wheeler and Woolsey, William Haines, Buster Keaton — are infinitely more gregarious, wags off-screen and on.

Garbo, most pronounced of all these artistic introverts, carries her love of solitude to an extreme degree.

Marlene Dietrich, her German rival, is no more a member of the Hollywood mob than if she were in Berlin.

Evelyn Brent's circle of intimates is small, and she dislikes crowds. She gives parties, true, but they are small, with seldom more than two to four guests. She reads constantly.

Elissa Landi lives a life untouched by the Hollywood whirl. Outside studio hours, she works on her new novel, walks and rides for exercise, alone, and shuns parties.

Remedy?

Had Clara Bow been mre f the same inclination, keeping her own counsel rather than gathering to her an assemblage of haphazard friends, it is doubtful if she would now be in a sanitarium suffering from a breakdown brought on by successive troubles in which those friends and ill-considered business associates involved her.

Clara's screen appeal depends principally on her physical fire and warm vitality, not on any inward emotional depth.

Would Reduce Rates Wyoming Oil Products

Commission Examiner Recommends Cut On Freight Tariffs To Destinations in Nebraska.

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—Examiner Smith today proposed to the interstate commerce commission that it order a downward revision of rates on petroleum products from Casper and nearby points in Wyoming to North Dakota, South Dakota, western Minnesota, northwestern Iowa, and Nebraska. The examiner recommended that rates from Casper to the indicated destinations should not exceed 25 per cent of the first class western trunk line rates.

He also recommended that the commission place Wyoming producing points on a comparable rate basis with Oklahoma producing points by removing rate differentials which favor the latter.

COPPER CUT AGAIN.

NEW YORK, June 4—(AP)—A second reduction in as many days was made in the price of export copper today when Copper Exporters, Inc., cut the price a quarter of a cent to 8.525 cents a pound. The action places the foreign price on a parity with 8¼ cent coper in the domestic market.

COLONEL HOUSE FOR ROOSEVELT

Wilson's Adviser Prefers Governor for Democratic Candidate.

MANCHESTER, Mass, June 4—(AP)—Col. Edward M. House, political adviser to President Wilson during the greater part of his administration, today declared his preference for Franklin D. Roosevelt as the democratic party's next presidential candidate.

House described Roosevelt as "the most available candidate."

"If nominated, he'd be elected," the colonel said.

He said he also thought well of Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war under Wilson, and asserted he had the greatest admiration for former Gov. Alfred E. Smith. "I was sorry the people didnt' elect Smith the last time," he declared.

Asked if he had ever discussed the matter of the New York governor's prospects with him directly, House said he preferred not to answer.

Roosevelt, like House, was identified with the Wilson administration, serving two terms as assistant secretary of the navy. House, who has never held political office, was active in both of Wilson's campaigns.

Hoover's Check Only One Signed By U. S. Treasurer

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP)—Walter O. Woods, treasurer of the United States, signs just one government check a month. It's President Hoover's pay check.

Although directly holding the purse strings in business involving more than three billion dollars annually, quiet Mr. Woods actually applies his pen only on this draft for $6.250 toward the $75,000 yearly salary of the president.

He does have his name on federal paper money, however. His signature is to be seen on the lower left side of the front of each bill. That of his chief, Secretary Mellon, is on the right.

Another duty of the treasurer is supervision of the daily statement on governmental finances. This shows the condition of the treasury and expenditures by the month and year to date, and gives comparisons with the same periods in the previous year.

USUAL METHOD OF ROASTING COFFEE MAKES FLAVOR VARY

But Controlled Roasting, Patented by Hills Bros., Prevents Variation

The elusive flavor of coffee is completely captured by a roasting process invented and used exclusively by Hills Bros.

This process roasts a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk. A constant stream of expertly blended coffees is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots, and passes through in a steady flow, roasting a little at a time. The speed of operation and temperature remain the same with the result that Hills Bros. Coffee is always uniform.

The common bulk method of roasting cannot develop the uniform flavor that Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process develops. For this reason, no other coffee has the same wonderful flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can which keeps it fresh always. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from this can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS A FUGITIVE.

There is a heart wallop in every line of the amazing story of Charles E. Johnson, a Nebraskan, thirty-eight years a fugitive from justice, who, Wednesday, trudged into the penitentiary to complete the prison sentence from which he fled.

He must be given credit for the decision to finish out the term of imprisonment. It was not fear of apprehension or detection which drove him back. Johnson was a young man twenty-eight years of age, when at an opportune moment he slipped over the walls and disappeared in the shadows of the outside world. He weighed 170 pounds then; he carried but 130 pounds of flesh and bone behind the bars yesterday. His hair was black when he left; it was white when he returned. After thirty-eight years of wandering and adventuring around the world in strange lands there were lines and wrinkles in his face.

Johnson's case had been closed many years ago so far as justice was concerned. The law had ceased to look for him many years ago and he could have remained outside of the prison, undisturbed and untroubled for the remainder of his life. Even had there been a desire to recapture him, it would have been impossible for Charles Johnson had changed his life, and time had altered his appearance so greatly no one would have suspected the secret which he so carefully guarded. He had married and established himself on a farm. He was industrious and respectable.

From the day he left the prison until three months ago when he was thrown up on the rocks in a wild sea off the Japanese coast, Charles Johnson never experienced a minute of regret that with only a few months more to serve he had stolen away from the prison. Freedom had been sweet to him. He had been happy in his home, and despite the failure of a farming venture had been able to get along.

Then he found himself on a sinking ship, threw himself into a raging sea, was tossed upon a huge rock to which he clung desperately for more than an hour before rescue came from the coast guards. In those sixty minutes, with death near at hand, he came to know regret. Who would say the most imaginative mind could conjure more real drama than is packed in the life of Charley Johnson? Stoical, phlegmatic and unemotional, his life may not have appealed to him as extraordinary but it is as strange a tale as ever was developed between the covers of a book, or unfolded in the calcium light of the stage.

It was a tired, old man who came back, without a cent to his name, and the opportunities of earning even enough to provide him with food and shelter exceedingly scanty. Part of the distance he covered on foot. The remainder was traversed on the "rods." For his associates he had those carefree, irresponsible folks who "hobo" it over the country. They fed him at times. What a laugh they would have gotten had they known their companion, thirty-eight years a free man, unnoted and unknown to police, was going back to complete a prison sentence which had been forgotten by his custodians simply because the thing called conscience had triumphed over him during that battle on the rocks!

But Charles Johnson could not be turned away from his purpose. He kept it to himself and he followed the shortest course he could to the penitentiary. He's out there now, probably the only able-bodied man with thirty-eight years of freedom behind him, to take his punishment for such an intangible thing called conscience.

It would be better to let Charles Johnson serve the remaining months of his sentence. In this day, with thousands and thousands of men out of work, he little use to himself or his country. The state will recognize his extraordinary act by providing him with a place to sleep, and good wholesome food. Before another summer arrives he will have discharged his debt to justice, and he will have erased the blot which was troubling him.

There is one thing which the state can do for him. He says he is innocent of the forgery for which he was sentenced to two years in prison. If he is an innocent man he does not belong in prison. The state has wronged him fearfully. The pardon board, if it is stirred and interested at all by the remarkable story of Charles Johnson, should investigate the facts of the crime for which he was sentenced. He says he was hauled into court without a lawyer, in his youth and his lack of knowedge of legal matters, pleaded guilty and was hurried away to prison. He had signed his mother's name to a note, whether with her permission or not does not appear, to pay for a threshing machine which proved worthless. He refused to pay the note. The facts should be established, and if Johnson's statements are correct, he should be sent forth as an innocent man and not as a pardoned convict.

WEST NEBRASKA FOR PROGRESS.

Formation of an Associated Chamber of Commerce organization for towns along the Lincoln highway in western Nebraska, which took place at Sidney last Monday, to push the demand for a paved thoroughfare throughout the length of the state is characteristic of the energy and progressive spirit possessed by the people of that section.

Western Nebraska has never been a laggard in public and private improvements. Its cities and villages are well built and will compare favorably with towns of equal population in any state of the union. The farming industry there is carried on with the most advanced methods. A number of manufacturing lines suited to the region have been developed in recent years.

The people of the western territory evidently are not in sympathy with the idea that, because of temporary recessions in business and a slump in prices of agricultural commodities, public construction projects should be abandoned until the return of better times. They believe that one way to better conditions is to go ahead with these undertakings and thus help to provide employment for wage-earners who buy the farmer's products.

It is both desirable and advantageous to Nebraska as a whole to extend the paving of its main highways as fast as possible without running the state into debt. Right now, when gravel, cement, and other items entering into the cost of pavement are at their lowest, and when unusual amounts of federal aid money are available, good business policy demands the speeding up of the highway program.

It is not practicable, of course, to concentrate all paving on one route. A fair division must be made among several main highways traversing the state, until they are all hard-surfaced. This is being done by the state highway department. It is to be hoped that some paving can be done this year in western Nebraska, and as the associated chamber of commerce organized at Sidney suggests such paving should lead toward Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha rather than toward Denver. In other words, the ties which bind together the business communities of this state should be increased.

McCook, Holdrege, and other cities of southwestern Nebraska are interested in the same way. They want paving connections with central and eastern Nebraska. Needless to say, Lincoln and other cities of this section would like to see this brought about as soon as may be.

With Colorado building paved roads from Denver to the Nebraska line, it behooves this state to keep its highway program going at full speed. Western, central, and eastern Nebraska all have the same stake in the creation of a modern system of highway communication binding them together.

CORRECTING THE BALANCE.

Every pest has a parasite, and if left in its native habitat that parasite will prey upon the pest to such an extent that it cannot become a real menace. The trouble is that the pests are at times unintentionally carried to distant climes without being accompanied by their natural enemies, and in the course of time havoc ensues. This was true of the Japanese beetle in California, which wrought great destruction before other bugs were brought from the Orient for the purpose of killing it off and terminating its career of devastation.

This was also the case with the Mediterranean fruit fly, which threatened the prosperity of Florida and wrought incalculable damage before science came to the rescue and put it out of business. In the same manner the European corn borer was brought into the country without being accompanied by its parasite and the result has been millions of dollars of damage. Parasites have been imported and other forms of warfare have been resorted to and it is expected that in the course of time the battle will be won.

For a great many years sugar cane planters of the south have lost heavily by the ravages of insect pests and vast sums have been expended in fighting them. Now it is said a parasite has been discovered in Peru and thousands of the bugs have been brought to the gulf coast for the purpose of taking up the fight. They were brought from South America by airplane and it is said other consignments are to follow. There is no doubt that in the course of time the pest will be compelled to capitulate.

If left to herself Nature maintains a perfect balance. Those creatures which cannot protect themselves are fleet of foot and prolific breeders, while the powerful have just the opposite characteristics. No pest exists without an accompanying parasite. Whenever the former are able to do great damage it is because the scheme of Nature has been interfered with. It is then up to the one who has interfered to correct the balance.

MUSSOLINI'S NEW WAR.

Similarities of communism and fascism are brought out by Premier Mussolini's campaign against "anti-fascism" in Italy. Il Duce's "declaration of war" calls for the dissolution of all societies and organizations not directly connected with the national fascist party. This order affects the Catholic societies and thus brings him into conflict with the church.

The opposition of the communists in Russia to religion is based, to a considerable extent, on the fear that the church might provide the nucleus for some anti-communist organization. Russian leaders were opposed to the church at the time of the revolution because the old Greek Orthodox church had been closely linked with the Czarist regime. They resolved to stamp out not only the Greek Orthodox church but every other religious organization which might possibly come in conflict with communism at some time in the future.

There is but one political party in Italy as in Russia. The fascist leaders, like the heads of the communist party, are constantly alert to the danger of some opposition organization being formed which might challenge their supremacy. In their fear they go to an absurd degree at times in imagining that certain organizations or societies are plotting against them.

This condition is the greatest weakness of a dictatorship, whether it be of a communist or of a fascist type. The dictatorship never countenances any open opposition. Dissatisfaction therefore smoulders under the surface ready at the first opportunity to blaze forth in a conflagration which will destroy the dictatorship.

The civil rights are the strength of democracies. Freedom of speech, and of the press, and the right of the individual to worship as he pleases are guaranteed. The struggle between opposing political parties may not make for the efficiency of the dictatorship but does give an outlet to dissatisfaction which must otherwise be expressed in revolutionary action. It never becomes necessary for the democracy to take drastic action in suppressing anything which might lead to an opposition movement.

FORMER KING HUSSEIN'S DEATH.

Those who read Captain Lawrence's "Revolt in the Desert" will recall the frequent references to King Hussein. The scion of one of the noblest Arab families, Hussein, as ruler of the Hedjaz tribesmen was the most powerful ally Captain Lawrence had in ousting the Turk from the holy land. It was not an easy matter to win Hussein's confidence. He had the traditional distrust and suspicion of the Arab tribesman. He had a flaming dream of Arabian nationalism and it was not until he was convinced his people had a chance to achieve it through a union with the Allies that he consented to throw his strength to them.

What happened after the war is not especially to the credit of Great Britain. Captain Lawrence felt so deeply the failure to recognize Arabian nationality he resigned his commission in the army and exiled himself to a lonely post of a private in the British forces in India.

Hussein suffered such acute disappointment that in 1924 he abdicated his throne. He had assured his followers if they would fight with him to reclaim Arabia, it would be theirs for all time. In a country where a ruler must maintain himself by force, where his subjects are treacherous and uncertain, the failure to attain his promised recognition was fatal. It must have filled the closing years of his life with a crushing disappointment for he discovered democracies have a way of forgetting their promises.

At his bedside was his son, King Feisel, another noble Arab, to whom Captain Lawrence made frequent reference. Feisel he found trustworthy and dependable to no less a degree than his father. They shared a thousand dangers together and participated in a score of thrilling exploits, including the blowing up of ammunition and troop trains behind the enemy lines. A glamorous trio would have been completed at battle scarred Ammen had Lawrence been present to witness the passing of the spirit of old Hussein to its Maker.

THE BUTTERFLY.

The other day before my eyes
There passed a group of butterflies.

And as from flower to flower they flew,
Bent on the task they came to do,

Bearing the fertile pollen far
I thought how strange God's marvel's are.

Fragile and lovely to the eye
Behold the wondrous butterfly.

Gay liveried servant of the flowers
Surpassing any work of ours.

Never I'm sure from brain of man
Could come so delicate a plan.

Only from God's design could spring
So helpful and so fair a thing!

Everyday Questions

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1931, New York Tribune)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

QUESTION.

Bangor, Me.

Why does not the church speak out frankly about the real causes of unemployment instead of maintaining a cowardly silence?

ANSWER.

There is much to show that the church is not backward on this question. No "cowardly silence" prevails in the papal encyclicals nor in the utterances of certain Jewish rabbis on the economic distress you and all of us deplore. The bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church are not the dumb dogs in our Israel you seem to think they are. They have recently said to all the churches:

"Our country is closing an era of unsurpassed prosperity. Our wealth has doubled and we are now the richest nation in material things. We have a surplus of money, of goods, of foodstuffs; in fact, a surplus of everything necessary to make all our people comfortable and happy. Yet with all our abundance, millions of our citizens are dependent upon the charity of their neighbors for their sustenance. We cannot view this anomalous situation without a deep and disquieting conviction that there is something fundamentally wrong with a social system that, in the midst of abundance ,dooms untold numbers of our people to unbearable poverty and distress through no apparent fault of their own.

"We cannot escape the conclusion that a more equitable distribution of wealth is basic to any genuine and permanent improvement of the welfare of mankind as a whole. Especially do we believe that every man is entitled to the full fruits of his own labor and that no man has a right to eat his bread in the sweat of other men's brows.

"Further, we cannot escape the conviction that there is something basically unjust in a system that allows an industry to absorb the surplus earnings of its employees in prosperous periods and to cast them aside for society to care for when their labors are no longer profitable. Those who receive the benefits of labor in good times should bear their fair share of labor's maintenance in 'lean' times. We do not presume to pass judgment upon the means and methods by which the present distressing conditions may be alleviated, or avoided in the future, but we would insist that some way must be found, and if necessary new principles of social justice be accepted and applied that will place all men, the weak as well as the strong, on a basis of Christian brotherhood."

There is nothing evasive or acquiescent about the foregoing declaration by the leaders of one of the largest Protestant communions in our country.

QUESTION.

Roanoke, Va.

Who are the people who consult you? I ask because I have heard them criticized as men, women, girls and youths who ought to settle their own affairs.

ANSWER.

Those who honor me with their confidence are largely distressed souls baffled by life's mysteries and rebellious against its inevitable course, or else seekers for light upon questions which are not always easy to answer by correspondence. Not a few have difficulties which are insuperable, or problems for which this world has no solution. Others wish to get certain beliefs and affirmations out of their systems, so they repair to this column for the purpose.

Very rarely do any of the thousands of applicants for my poor suggestions (and no one is more acutely aware than I how inadequate my answers must necessarily be in many instances) manifest a captious or acrimonious disposition. I have been profoundly impressed by the patience, fortitude and courtesy of the majority. Letters I shall always treasure have come to me from men, women and young people in every walk of life, filled with gratitude for the feeblest hints or suggestions I have been able to give them. This is by far the richest reward I could desire for any labors involved, and I may add that many hundreds of letters are answered privately year by year because it is simply impossible to print their tragic details in the press and I have not the heart or the inclination to disregard their problems.

It is perfectly natural for certain types of minds to ask for advice under given conditions. Nor should it be assumed that such minds are in any way inferior. On the contrary, countless of my correspondents have contributed much to my education, and have given me far more than they ever received from me through our exchange of ideas.

The independent spirits who are wholly sufficient until themselves and delight to fight their own battles do not invariably reveal sound sense. Their determination outruns their discretion. To be sure, the final decision rests with the questioner himself. But my mail reveals situations which would overtax the resources of any stalwart of any age at any time and anywhere. The critics you mention would not gibe at convalescents trying to recover health in the sun porch. This column is intended to render a similar service to those who seek aid in the storm and stress of problems relating to their moral or religious life.

I trust this explanation will clarify the purpose and scope of this Question and Answer feature.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

COLITIS MEANS LITERALLY INFLAMATION OF COLON

Colitis means literally inflamation of the colon or large intestine. There are glands in the colon which normally secrete mucous, and in mucous colitis the inflammation occurs around these glands, causing the pouring out of a great mass of compact mucous which when discharged looks like a gelatin cast of the bowel. These periods of discharge of mucous are accompanied by considerable pain or cramping in most cases. They come at intervals of frome a few days to a few months, the time between attacks varying in diffedent individuals. It lasts from a few hours to several days. In intervals between attacks the patients are usually fairly healthy except for constipation, which afflicts three-fourths of them. Their general underlying health is, however, never of the best.

Dr. Clendening

Since the mucous glands are controlled by the nervous system and could be stimulated to flow by stimulating the nerves, another mode of origin of the condition can be thought of which is a disturbance of balance of the nervous system. In most cases there are both the nervous elements, the infectious or inflammatory elements, and the constitutional elements to consider.

When such patients are observed with an X-ray during an attack the bowel seems to draw down to the size of a string. This indicates how much it is under tension.

Treatment of these cases, as I explained in the first article on the subject this week must be highly individualized. No two patients can be treated exactly alike.

The outlook, it may be cheering to know, is very good so far as duration of life goes. These patients may complain like the deuce but their disease does not kill them. That, of course, is not the same as saying they do not actually suffer, as any hay-fever patient can tell you.

Under proper treatment about 75 per cent of the patients are greatly improved permanently in 50 per cent of instances.

The most important part of treatment is psychological, or educational, if you prefer that word. The patient's attitude towards his disease must be made to be as rational and reasonable as possible. If permanent and complete cure cannot be attained the patient must be made to view his afflictions as philosophically as possible. It will probably comfort him to know that no matter how disagreeable the condition is it will not kill him. Since it is based on fundamental peculiarities of his own body it is not reasonable to suppose it can be entirely corrected in a short time.

The patient's general health must be kept up to par, by plenty of rest, varied judicious exercises, hydrotherapy and massage, and if the economic circumstances can stand it, by yearly visits to health resorts.

Dietary treatment cannot be set down with absoluteness. Some people react well to a high residue diet, with bran and cellulose, for others these are irritating, bring on too many attacks, and a low residue, bland diet must be used. (These diets are described in the pamphlet on "Indigestion and Constipation.") The constipated state between attacks should not be too drastically treated. Strong cathartics are in most instances too irritating. Sedatives such as luminal often keep patients comfortable. The treatment of the acute attack, if severe, must be delt to a physician, but the patient usually learns wha is best to do, and does it.

Editor's note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are, "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

A Well-Protected Home

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

No home is what a home should be
That is not made from danger free.
—Cocky the Road Runner.

Cocky the Road Runner lives in a land where constant watchfulness is necessary in order to live. Of course, this is more or less true everywhere. All the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest have to watch out for enemies, as you know, but there it is an easy matter to hide their homes. There are tall trees and plenty of them for the feathered folk who live in trees. For those who live on the ground there are bushes and tall grass in which homes can be securely hidden. In the desert land there are no tall trees, and no grass wherein to hide the homes and keep the babies safe. Homes there must be protected rather than hidden. No one knows this better than Cocky and Mrs. Cocky the Road Runners.

Mrs. Cocky had spent a great deal of time and care in selecting the place for their nest. Cocky had almost lost patience with her. He had begun to wonder if she ever would be satisfied. But when at last she took him to the place she had chosen he was filled with admiration.

"My dear," said he, "it is perfect. "If our babies are not safe here they would not be safe anywhere."

It was a clump of cactus plants that Mrs. Cocky had chosen a kind of cactus known as the cholla, and like most kinds of cactus the plants were covered with the sharpest of sharp spnies. Mrs. Cocky had chosen the largest cholla, and in the very midst of it she proposed they build their nest.

"It is a good thing," said she, "that we know how to avoid those spines or how to pull them out if we do step on one now and then. Once we have our nest built in here, no one is going to bother us. It will be safe from all robbers. No Snake or Lizard is going to even try to climb up to it, and no Hawk is going to try to get at it from above. When the babies are young and helpless we will not have to worry about them when we are away hunting food for them. They will be perfectly protected. Now let us get busy nad start housekeeping as soon as possible."

This suited Cocky and he promptly said so. So in the middle of that cactus a nest was built, a rather large nest made of sticks and such other material as could be found, including some feathers and the cast skin of a snake. It was Cocky who found this, and very proud he was when he brought it to the nest.

"I never could see any use for Snakes excepting little ones, which are very good eating, until now," said he as Mrs. Cocky busily worked the skin into the nest. "I think I will go look for another skin."

"It makes a very good lining," said Mrs. Cocky. "There is one thing certain and that is that this is as near as any snake will come to this nest. Ouch!"

"What is it, my dear?" asked Cocky anxiously.

"Nothing. Nothing at all. I was a bit careless and stepped on a spine," Mrs. Cocky replied. She lifted a foot and with her bill pulled out a spine.

"I've stepped on a couple this morning myself," said Cocky. "They don't amount to anything. Our feet are tough, which I guess is a good thing. The more I think of it the more certain I am that you chose the very best place anywhere about in which to build. Now I'll see if I can find another skin."

"It isn't necessary," replied Mrs. Cocky. "This one is so big that it is all we really need. Of course if you should happen to see one it would be foolish not to use it, but as I said before, we really don't need it. A few more feathers are all we need to finish the nest. Perhaps I shouldn't say so, but I am rather proud of it."

"So am I," declared Cocky.

HERE and THERE

Light On Shrinking Family.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

Persons who are interested in the future of the nation with reference to preservation of the race should not be disturbed overmuch by the story that is revealed by statistics of the "family" just announced for seven states by the census burcau.

The figures are not all they appear to be and need explaining before we follow them off in the belief that families, as parents understand families—father, mother and the children—are growing smaller. It is probable that families are growing smaller, but the details cannot be found in census statistics of the "family" that are now being announced and that will be the subject of a census monograph when all the figures are at hand.

Consanguinity may have a lot to do with these groupings whose measurements are now being announced, but consanguinity is not the yardstick being used. So announcement that Arkansas "families" average 4.2 persons in the 1930 count and that they have lost three-tenths of a unit in the last ten years does not mean that that portion of a child has been lost in average distribution, or that the comparison of 4.2 persons in the Arkansas "family" of 1930 to the 5.3 count in 1890 indicates more than a child less in forty years.

It merely means that the "family" of census usage, that household or group of persons, whether related by blood or not, who share a common abode and usually share the same table, is growing smaller; that the grouping in Colorado, to offer another instance, has shrunk from 4.9 in 1890 to 3.9 in 1930, without exclusive reference to father and mother and the children. Census interpretation of the family accords a lone bachelor farmer equal family standing with the entire resident population of a hotel, or orphan asylum or institutional hospital. However small one and however large the other, each constitutes a family and contributes to state and naticnal averages.

So some of the edge is taken off the trend found in figures of the first group of states announced, which point to an average American family of approximately four persons in 1930, compared to 4.9 in 1890, 4.7 in 1900, 4.5 in 1910 and 4.3 in 1920. But we can't measure race suicide, if there is race suicide, by the census bureau's count of what it calls the family.

A Breath of Fresh Air

Recently we announced that no firm or individual is ever paid for recommending a Castle, Roper & Matthews funeral. Praises on this humanitarian stand have come to us from many sources...from physicians, nurses, lawyers and hospital authorities, who are grateful for a breath of fresh air on a matter which has been fraught with rumor for generations.

Professional people are often called upon to suggest steps in an emergency. They are anxious to help, but misunderstandings sometimes arise. Therefore, it is a source of comfort to know that when our services are recommended, no thought of personal gain ever influneces the suggestion.

Beautiful services through this mortuary, with every advantage of our excellent facilities and superior equipment, may be obtained for as little as the smallest firm would charge. Learn why this is so in our helpful booklet, "Before Sorrow Comes."

FASCISTS URGED BY MUSSOLINI TO CONTINUE FIGHT

Adjured to Defend Party Achievements Against All Anti-Groups.

CATHOLIC LEADERS PUT UNDER ARREST

Pope Forbids Ceremonies Usually Marking Corpus Christi Day.

ROME, June 4—(AP)—Pope Pius spent an hour and a half today discussing all phases of the crisis between the holy see and the Italian government with the Marchese Pacelli, his attorney, who performed important work in negotiations which brought about the Lateran treaty.

The papal nuncio also took part in the conference, and when it was over it was disclosed that the pontiff had delivered a second note to the Italian foreign office, presumably a strong protest against what he considers violation of the concordat between Roome and the vatican by dissolution of Catholic laymen's clubs.

This note it was learned, was delivreed on Monday or Tuesday after Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, acting on advice from Premier Mussolini, had refused to receive the first note on Friday.

The first note demanded apologies and reparations and the arrest and punishment of persons guilty of insulting the pope. The second note, it is believed, repeated those demands.

ROME, June 4—(AP)—In Italy's 20,000 Catholic churches and in the meeting places of 9,000 fascist groups the "man in the street" today heard the official pronouncements of the vatican and the Italian government on the conflict between the church and the state.

Pope Pius, unbending in his contention that the government has violated the concordat with the holy see by dissolving Catholic laymen's organizations, forbade the colorful religious demonstrations which usually mark this Corpus Christi day. The processions which usually take place outside the churches were by his order held inside their walls.

Premier Mussolini transmitted his orders through a resolution adopted by the directorate of the fascist party yesterday, adjuring all fascists to defend the party's achievements against all anti-fascists, "under whatever banner."

Meanwhile informal negotiations seeking a settlement of the conflict were said to be "proceeding satisfactorily." The identity of those who are conducting these negotiations remained unclear.

Catholic Leaders Arrested

ROME, June 4—(AP)—Widespread reports of arrests of leaders of the Catholic Action society for opposition to the fascist regime created a stir today. Secrecy was maintained about them. Reports about arrests began to develop when the fascist directorate gave notice of measures against anti-fascism.

Vatican sources said that Attorney Corsanego, honorary president of the Italian Catholic young peoples' society, had been taken into custody and that numerous others had been arrested on political warrants. Senor Corsanego was said to have been handed a "political admonition" which usually precedes banishment to the Islands of Lipari.

Other reports said that about a dozen leaders of the society had been arrested in various cities of the country on the grounds that they had waged political warfare against fascismo. The government declined to confirm or deny this and refused to give out information concerning arrests.

Forbidden to Leave Zone

The Lipari islands, a volcanic group off Sicily, are used as a place of exile for political prisoners. The occupants are said to enjoy the freedom of the town of Lipari, but are forbidden to leave the zone of detention. Many distinguished Italians have been sent there in the past.

Premier Mussolini is mobilizing the strength and spirit of the fascist party to stamp out "what remains and so far has been spared" of anti-fascism, particularly in Catholic organizations.

Toscanini's Passport Restored and Is Now Free to Leave Italy

MILAN, Italy, June 4—(AP)—Arturo Toscanini's passport, which was suspended after the conductor refused to play the royal march and fascist anthem at Bologna recently, was returned to him this morning and now he is free to leave Italy.

It was said yesterday that the maestro would go to Bayreuth to conduct the Wagnerian festival.

Health Department Will Move To New Quarters Next Week

Changes being made in the rooms on the second floor of the Guggenheim building on O street, opposite the city hall, preparatory to their use as temporary quarters of the health department, are expected to be completed in time for moving to start not later than next Wednesday, Dr. M. F. Arnholt, superintendent, stated Thursday. He expects to be through moving by Saturday night, he said. The move is necessary in order to vacate the old municipal building at Tenth and Q streets, so that it can be wrecked preparatory to the erection of a new structure.

The transfer and the changes in the rooms that are necessary, will be quite inexpensive, Dr. Arnholt said. James Splichal, a health department inspector, is a cabinet worker, and is doing the work of this kind that is needed. About the only other expense will be that in connection with the use of a van to haul the equipment.

Rites for Dean Beyer Will Be Held Friday

AMES, Ia., June 5—(AP)—Funeral services for Dean S. W. Beyer, 66, who died yesterday from injuries received in an automobile accident, will be held Friday afternoon in great hall of the memorial union at Iowa State college.

ARREST WHELAN ON OLD CHARGE

Former Deputy Revenue Collector Taken in Honolulu.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—Assistant United States District Attorney A. C. Epperson announced here today receipt of a cablegram from Honolulu, Hawaii, stating that John B. Whelan, formerly deputy collector of internal revenue at Columbus, Neb., who had been sought since 1926 for embezzlement of $1,750, was arrested in the island city yesterday.

Whelan was indicted for embezzlement in 1926, on a charge of misappropriations allegedly made in 1924, while free on bond he announced he was ready to plead guilty, and a hearing date was set. Whelan did not appear for the hearing, and had been the object of a search since then. Recently federal officials received a tip that he was in San Francisco, and was planning to go to Honolulu, where he was supposed to have a brother.

Whelan paid back all but about $500 of the $1,750, according to the records of A. B. Allen, chief deputy collector at Omaha.

LIFE INSURANCE FIGURES STAGGER THE IMAGINATION

Europeans say we Americans are Shylocks and money mad. But Senator Howells proved we have remitted our foreign war debts, only charging a small rate of interest for 62 years, and the figures of life insurance protection for our posterity, and saving for old age all go to belie their claims.

Posterity is protected to the extent of $114,000,000,000, and policyholders have over $20,000,000,000 of cash savings to their credit.

Over $3,500,000,000 is being disbursed each year to policyholders and beneficiaries.

It is interesting, the many ways life insurance is serving us in our every day life. We want to discuss how it is functioning in connection with the home next Thursday.

Bryan Completes Budget and Begins Work On Message

Governor Bryan said Wednesday he had completed the details of his appropriations budget to be presented to the special legislative session next Tuesday.

He declined, however, to discuss the changes made or the budget total.

The governor said he had worked most of Wednesday night to wind up the task, and that he was now ready to begin preparation of his message to the joint house and senate session, tentatively scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon.

LINDBERGHS ARE TO TOUR ORIENT

for the return trip from the Orient have not been arranged, Lindbergh stating that he had not determined whether he would return by boat or by the northern air route.

The announcement of the proposed flight was made by Undersecretary of State Castle in compliance with a request by telephone from Colonel Lindbergh today.

The exact route or itinerary of the trip was not clear in the minds of state department officials. They said they presumed he would fly across the country to some point on the Pacific coast and thence across the northern pacific.

Hop-Off Point in Doubt.

They were uncertain whether he would begin his trans-Pacific flight from the extreme northern part of this country or from Alaska.

Officials of the soviet information bureau, which communicates with the Moscow government in obtaining flying permission for Americans over soviet territory, said today Colonel Lindbergh had not sought such permission.

They expressed the opinion that such a request would be readily agreed to by the Moscow government, pointing out that Lindbergh in November, 1929, greeted a group of soviet fliers at New York after a flight from Russia. It was said that Moscow officials and flying men held Colonel Lindbergh in "high regard."

A 600-Mile Hop.

Should Lindbergh desire to fly directly from American to Japanese territory the closest hop over the ocean would be a span of approximately 600 miles between Attu, the most westerly of the Aleutian islands, and Shumshu, the most northerly and easterly of the islands of the Japanese empire.

A shorter flight of some 350 miles could be made between Attu and Copper island, soviet territory, and the peninsula of Kamchatka.

Two successful flights have been made by the northern route. These were the army round-the-world flight in 1924 under the command of then First Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, and the Russian fliers in 1929 under command of Semyon Shestakov.

state business to look after at his office and did not feel that he should be wasting his time sitting around the chief executive's office and twirling his thumbs; espeially since nobody knew when Bryan would be there.

Secretary Radke acknowledged that he didn't know where the governor was or when he would arrive, but gave the customary reply to queries that he thought Mr. Bryan would be in his office "in about ten minutes." The ten minutes passed, however, with fifteen more, and still no governor appeared.

It was finally learned from a woman visitor who came into the office that she had seen Governor Bryan downtown and that he was coming to the capitol after a while.

Board Meeting Goes Over.

A little before 11:30 the governor did show up at his office; but it was then too late to hold the board meeting before luncheon and it went over until afternoon.

Governor Bryan received newspaper reporters half an hour after the regular press time and gave them a couple of items for publication.

The governor was working Wednesday evening. Both State Tax Commissioner Smith, on the preparation of his revised budget for the extra legislative session. He frequently stays away from the capitol until 10:30 or 11 o'clock in the morning. However, he usually remains in his office during the noon hour when others go to lunch.

Honest Discussion Of National Issues Needed Says Curtiss

Honest, unprejudiced consideration of national problems is one of the great needs of the present day, John E. Curtiss declared in a talk before the Knife and Fork club at the Lincoln hotel Thursday noon. Speaking on the subject "The Road Is Not Foolproof," Mr. Curtiss presented an optimistic note in his discussion of the depression period, and declared that business conditions were rapidly moving towards normalcy again.

STATE HAS LESS MONEY ON HAND

Early Expense and Legislature Deplete Treasury Balance.

Report of Dr. T. W. Bass, state treasurer, for the month of May shows that the state terasury approximately $770,000 less in its cash account than it had at the end of May last year, the difference being largely due to the expense of the legislative session and the early start on highway work. Cash on hand May 31 totalled $6,191,485.49 compared with $6,961,801.34 a year ago.

Treasurer Bass stated that tax collections are proceeding at a normal rate, despite predications that the economic depression would retard them. Receipts during the month for the general fund totalled $1,669,240.89, which is about $110,000 less than in May, 1930. The decrease is partially due to slightly lower tax rate, according to Dr. Bass.

While revenues declined slightly, expenditures were greater this May, due to legislative expense and the payment of emergency appropriations. Payments from the general fund were $545,149.82 this May compared with $419,123.01 last May. The general fund balance on May 31, 1931, was $1,790,228.10 and on May 31, 1930, was $2,003,149.48.

June receipts are expected to be fully as large as those of May, due to the payment of real estate taxes, and general fund is expected to be augmented considerably.

Gasoline tax receipts were nearly $90,000 less this May than in the same month last year, being $720,786.47 the past month, compared with $809,325 74 in May, 1930. The gasoline fund started the month a balance of only $1,375,540.58 or nearly $500,000 less than the balance on May 1, 1930. Early work on highways made possible by the open winter caused unusually high highway expenditures in the prior months of this year.

The school fund ended up May with $460,394.50, which is approximately the same as last year.

NAUTILUS READY START JOURNEY TO NORTH POLE

sand Leagues Under the Sea" was bestowed on the submarine, which had been known as O-12 when it was a member of Uncle Sam's navy, by Lady Wilkins, who dumped a couple of gallons of cracked ice on its bow.

Three Ice Cutters.

One of the chief problems that had to be solved whe nthe O-12 was made over was the question of providing air required for recharging storage batteries.

This was done by means of ice-cutters; there are three of them on the ship's back—one atop a conning tower that can be thrust up through thirteen feet of ice, the others, placed aft, which can bore their way through 100 feet. The conning tower will be used for observation.

The ship is equipped with radio and with a full complement of scientific devices for recording the life and times of the North Pole.

The submarnie anchored alongside a coast guard destroyer in Provincetown harbor.

She took a little less than seventeen and one-half hours to make the trip from New London, Conn., where she had been refitting for the Arctic trip. An approximate speed of nine miles per hour was maintained during her New London-Provincetown run.

FEDERAL BANK OFFICERS HERE

Meet at Omaha.

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—"Time and hard work" was the prescription for overcoming the business depression given here today by W. J. Bailey, governor of the tenth federal reserve district with headquarters in Kansas City, who accompanied directors of the parent bank to Omaha for the annual joint meeting with directors of the Omaha branch.

Business men, he said, should not forget that it takes time to cure economic ills. Crop conditions throughout the tenth district are good, he said.

Following today's meeting here, the bankers attended an informal luncheon, and then went by auto to Lincoln to view the new state capitol.

W. L. Peterkin, president of the Great Western Sugar Co., Denver, and a director of the parent bank, said his company's beet acreage this year equals that of 1930—approximately 285,000 acres in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana.

"The condition of the beet crop is very good, but rain is needed now in western Nebraska," he stated. "We are hoping for some improvement in the sugar market."

AIR TOUR WILL VISIT LINCOLN

tour. It is sponsored by the Detroit Aviation society.

Captain Collins highly complimented the local field, and commented on the asphalt runways which are being laid. Pouring of the surfacing began Monday, and should be completed in about 30 days, according to Mr. Sidles.

Plane Has Record.

Interest of visitors at the field centered on the pathfinding plane, the "Spokane Sun God", in which Collins and Story are visiting various airports to make arrangements for the tour. The Sun God is the airship in which Nick B. Mamer and Arthur Walker established the never-threatened long distance nonstop flight record of 7,200 miles. The ship was flown in the summer of 1929 from Spokane to New York and return without landing, refueling in the air. Bad weather forced the pilots to circle some airports until they got the "go-ahead" signal, and extended the time required to make the flight to five days and five nights.

The Sun God is a six-place cabin Buhl sesquiplane. It is being loaned by the Buhl Manufacturing Co. to the sponsors of the national air tour. Mr. Story is factory representative of the Buhl firm, and is himself a noted pilot.

FOUR NEBRASKANS SHARE IN ESTATE

OMAHA, June 4—(AP)—A dispatch to the World-Herald from Glen Falls, N. Y., says four Nebraskans are among the five equal beneficiaries of the property in the estate of Miss Mary E. Van Wagenen, formerly of Burwell, Neb., who died last fall. Those who share the property, valued at $10,000, are Mrs. George E. Mickel of Lincoln, Mrs. D. F. Hennick of Burwell and Mrs. W. R. Rockhold of Glen Ridge, N. J., sisters of Miss Van Wagenen; her mother, Mrs. Eli Van Wagenen, and a brother, Joseph R. Van Wagenen, both of Burwell.

It has been reported that Mr. Coolidge prefers to cease his newspaper work entirely. That question, too, will be discussed it is understood.

of every ten people you approached could tell you that a peace conference is to be held in February," Miss Blake asserted.

The purpose of the peace federation, as outlined by Miss Blake, is to enable the people of the world to express their desires more effectively. One means of doing this is being tried in the circulation of a petition by the federation which asks for disarmament at the next conference. A trip through 26 states is planned for this summer by the federation. The petitions will be signed and governors and mayors interviewed for their sentiments on the subject.

The caravans which will spread like a network over the country will converge at Washington, where the petitions will be presented to President Hoover. The council of the League of Nations is now conferring in an attempt to establish a date for the opening of the conference next February. Delegates of the federation will attend the meet.

The coming conference is expected to be considerably larger than the London naval conference. Instead of only six nations being represented, sixty nations will have delegates at the conference on the disarmament of land and air, as well as naval forces.

Mrs. Clara C. Laddey of New Jersey, former president of the Women's International league, also appeared on the program with Miss Blake. Upon the retirement of Mrs. Laddey from the presidency of the league a peace schoarship in her honor was created for the students of the schools of New York City.

Another lot of 5,000 to 10,000 pairs of side plates to be placed on commercial trucks, showing their load capacities, will be bought at the same price as for regular plates.

FEES ALLOWED STRELOW CASE

lost, the attorneys were to have nothing for their services.

Case Is Decided.

The Supreme court having given a final decision this past winter that the will of the neighbors was fraudulently and wrongfully obtained, the attorneys for the heirs conferred with Reid in accordance with the agreement made and it was determined that 33 1-3 per cent of the present value of the estate should be a reasonable amount for attorney's fees. This percentage amounts to the $28,443 set out in the decree.

Real estate in the Strelow estate is valued at $38,400 and personal property as $46,900. Most of the personal property is in the form of investments based on moneys found buried in pots and otherwise secreted about the farm after the death of Strelow. A long time resident of Lancaster county, he had lived a hermit like existence having as company only a brother, Theodore, who preceded him in death by a few months.

Investment Pay Expense.

Judge Reid commented upon the fact that as administrator of the estate during the period it has been in litigation, The First Trust Co. has kept the money so invested that its income has taken care of all expense other than that of the present fees for the attorneys of the heirs.

The ten heirs are scattered over all parts of the country, with three living in Germany. It was the interest of the three in Germany which Mr. Beal of Omaha looked after, while that of the other seven was looked after by the two Lincoln firms and Mr. Hastings of Crete. The only heirs living in this vicinity are Robert Strelow, Martel, Mary Roop, Havelock and Louise Peekin, Council Bluffs, Ia.

John Doeg's mother, Mrs. Violet Hope Doeg, is tennis professional of the Women's National Golf and Tennis club of New York.

SCHIFF, BANKER, DIES SUDDENLY

New York Philanthropist Is Found Dead, Seated In a Chair.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 4—(AP)—Mortimer L. Schiff, banker, philanthropist, member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Co., and president of the Boy Scouts of America, died suddenly during the night of a heart attack. He would have been 54 years old tomorrow.

After a day which included his usual visit to his office, an afternoon round of golf and dinner with his family, he retired to his home. He was found dead, clad in a lounging robe and seated in a chair. He was to have sailed next week to Europe to join Mrs. Schiff.

Mr. Shiff, who was born in New York City June 5, 1877, had been a partner in Kuhn, Loeb and Co., since the first of the century. He was married April 30, 1901, to Adele G. Neustadt, who went to Europe two weeks ago. There are two children, John Mortimer Schiff 26 years old, who lives at the estate here, and Mrs. Richard B. W. Hall of New York.

Attended Amherst.

After attending private schools in New York and Amherst college, he became connected with the New York, Ontario & Western railroad company for two years.

Later he was with the Great Northern, afterward going abroad to study banking in London and Hamburg. When he returned in 1898 he entered Kuhn, Loeb & Co., becoming a partner two years later.

He was the author of a number of pamphlets on economic subjects. During the World war, he was a member of the war department's committee of eleven to correlate the work of the army and navy welfare agencies. He went abroad as a member of this committee.

DO-X FAR OVER ATLANTIC OCEAN ON BRAZIL TRIP

whose commander reported everything was going well.

PORTO PRAIA, Cape Verde Islands, June 4—(AP)—The German seaplane DO-X took off from the harbor here today after a series of unsuccessful attempts to leave the water, resuming her long delayed flight to Brazil.

She took off at 12:52 p. m., (7:52 a. m., E. S. T.)

The distance from here to Natal, Brazil, is about 1,000 miles in a southwesterly direction.

The big plane got here last week from the vicinity of Bolamo, Portuguese West Africa, and began a series of tests of landing and take-off conditions.

Started Last Winter.

Since she left Altenrhein, Switzerland last winter, intending to cross the Atlantic by easy stages, the flight has experienced many delays.

In Portugal fire destroyed one of her wkings and she was laid up a long time for repairs. When she finally got to the Canary islands, her next stop, bad weather and heavy seas delayed the takeoff, but at last she was able to cross the stretch of water between the islands and Africa to Villa Cisneros, Rio de Oro, whence she went on down to Bolama.

Yankee to Join Crew.

From Natal, according to the present plan, she will fly to several cities along the Atlantic coast of South America then go north to New York, Clarence Schildhauer, the American pilot, is to join the crew in South America.

Attorney General Sorensen was also without first hand knowledge of Johnson's case but said he believed it might be reviewed at any early date by the board.

It was indicated that in contrast to the usual procedure, the case might be docketed for hearing by the action of the board instead of by the formal application of Johnson himself.

The crime for which he was originally sentenced involved forging of his mother's name to a note for a threshing machine.

CAFES REQUIRED ADMIT COLORED

Signs Stating Patronage Not Wanted are Illegal Says Sorensen.

A written opinion holding that the display of a sign reading "No colored patronage solicited" in an Omaha restaurant is violative of the civil rights provisions in Nebraska's constitution has been given by Attorneyl General Sorensen in reply to an inquiry from members of the negro race in that city.

The opinion was delivered Thursday morning to three colored men who called on Sorensen at his office, and copies of it were handed out to the press. The attorney general's visitors were R. C. Price, chairman of the redress committee in Douglas county for the N. A. A. C. P., J. Harvey Kerns, and Dr. A. L. Hawkins.

Sorensen first quotes two sections of the statutes, amphifying the constitutional provision, which forbid discrimination by owners of hotels, cafes, barber shops, theaters, and public conveyances against individual patrons and prescribe a fine of $25 to $100 to $100 for violation.

SPECIAL RAILWAY RATES GRANTED TO A. A. U. TRACK MEET

A one and a half fare for the round trip to Lincoln for the A. A. U. meet here July 3 and 4, has been granted on every railroad in the United States, except those in the eastern trunk line territory, according to W. S. Whitten, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The eastern trunk line territory includes the Atlantic seaboard states between Maine and Virginia, inclusive, and a number of the adjoining interior states. It is likely that this territory also will be included, Mr. Whitten said, as Dan Ferris of New York City, secretary of the A. A. U., is pressing for the reduction, which applies only to athletes attending the meet, and officials and representatives of the A. A. U.

In addition to these reductions, Nebraska railroads are making preparations to handle large crowds to the meet because of a week-end fare that is to be effective at the time. It is to be a tourist rate, Mr. Whitten said, and may be as low as one fare for the round trip.

Application for the special fares was made to the several passenger associations of the county, by Mr. Whitten, and for the first time, this year the Central Passenger association is granting the concession.

The oversubscription indicated to experts that while the government will end the current fiscal year with approximately a $1,000,000,000 deficit, it will have no difficulty in raising all the funds it needs pending the return of business to normal.

Another Advance In Stock Prices

Gloom Over Wall Street For Last Three Months Is Lifting.

NEW YORK, June 4— (AP) — Stock prices rose rapidly in another active buying movement today.

Shaking off early irregularity caused by active profit-taking, the market swung strongly upward during the afternoon under the leadership of the rails, most of which soared $3 to $6 a share. Industrials and utilities joined the procession eventually, with nUited States Stele and American Telephone climbinb about $3 each. Case shot up more than $5.

The stronger rails included Atchison, up $6.50, New Haven, Chesapeake corporation, New Haven and Atlantic Coast line, up $5, and New York Central Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Illinois Central and Rock Island, up $4 or more.

Some investment buying and considerable short covering provided the impetus for the move which, following yesterday's sensational surt, lifted the gloom that had gripped Wall Street for three months.

Husband Is Given Seven Year Term in Iowa Prison.

ATLANTIC, Ia., June 4—(AP)—James Crawford alias Harry P. Wilsey, was given a sentence of seven years in the state penitentiary when he pleaded guilty late yesterday in District court to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Crawford and his bride of a few days, the former Evelyn May Neuman, 18, of Beatrice, Neb., were arrested here last Saturday after the honeymooning groom had given a bad check to a filling station in payment for an automobile tire.

Authorities said his bride, whom he married after a week's courtship, probably will be released to return to her home at Beatrice.

Hussein, Former Ruler of Hedjaz Tribesmen, Dead

Failure to Form Arab Federation Led to Abdication in 1924.

JERUSALEM, June 4—(AP)—Former King Hussein of the Hedjaz died at dawn today at Amman, Trans-Jordia, after a long illness.

Three of his sons were at the bedside. Another, King Feisal of Irak, was unable to come here from Bagdad. The funeral cortege left shortly after his death for this city where burial will take place.

Hussein was born in Constantinople in 1856, the son of one of the noblest families in Arabia. Taken to Mecca at the age of 8, he spent his early manhood in assisting his uncle, Sheriff Abdulla, in managing the Hedjaz tribesmen.

Later in life he led a revolt against his uncle's successor and was banished to Constantinople where he became a member of the imperial Ottoman council. In 1908, he was appointed sherif of Hedjaz and became king some years later. His failure to form an Arab federation led to his abdication in October, 1924.

More parents accompanied their children this year than ever before.

FAT Becomes Fuel
In This Right Way To Reduction

Modern science has found that a great cause of excess fat lies in a defective gland. That gland's secretion is intended to turn food into fuel and energy. When that gland is weak, too much food goes to fat. So doctors, the world over, in treating obesity, now supply the lacking factor. Then more food goes to energy and heat.

That is the greatest reason why excess fat has been disappearing so rapidly in late years. The starvation method has been superseded by a scientific method.

Marmola prescription tablets embody this new method at its best. A world-famous laboratory prepares them for people who do not consult physicians on this abnormal condition. People have used Marmola for 24 years, in Europe and America—millions of boxes of it. Now you see around you, in every circle, the results you would like to get.

Go learn what Marmola means to you, not only in reduction, but in new beauty, health and vigor. Friends all about you will advise this, and show you the delightful results.

The way to start is to ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola. In the box you will find the formula and a very instructive book. Don't delay. Don't use harsh and foolish methods. Do what modern doctors do. Then, when you gain the desired results, please tell your friends. If all the over-fat will do that, we shall have slender figures everywhere.

"Big Six" Sends Its Stars to National Meet

Midwest Cinder Aces Flock to Chicago For Try at Title Winning

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 4—Nearly a score of athletes will represent the Big Six conference in the national collegiate track and field championships to be held at Stagg Field this weekend. The entries from the Missouri Valley region, all event champions or outstanding performers in their various events, were in Chicago today, having made the trip to the Windy city by means of automobiles.

Big Six Roster

The roster from the Big Six pared down somewhat, due to the depression which has been felt in athletic coffers during the 1930-31 season follows:

Nebraska—Cobe Tomson, three-time conference broad jump champion; Hugh Rhea, undefeated in the shot put event this year; Don Gray, present Big Six conference record-holder in the broad jump; Elmer Faytinger, 1929 and 1931 Big Six javelin champion; Jerry Lee, all-around track performer, who will enter the quarter-mile.

Iowa State— Bob Hager, two-time Big Six conference high hurdle champion; Ray Putnam, holder of the conference mile and two-mile records; Lloyd Nagel, crack Cyclone half-miler.

Oklahoma—Glen Dawson, Big Six conference mile and two-mile champion and holder of the Big Six mile record; Clifford Mell, indoor broad jump champion; and Warren Moore, half-miler.

Kansas—Clyde Coffman, Big Six conference pole vault champion and record-holder; Bernard Gridley, who ran a sensational 23 seconds in the 220-yard low hurdles in the recent championships at Lincoln; Ralph Sickel and Joe Klaner, conference sprint champions; George Jones, Big Six quarter-mile champion, Raymond Flick, hurdler.

Kansas Aggies—Milton Ehrlich, conference high jump champion and record -holder.

Of the group, Hugh Rhea, giant Cornhusker shot-putter, appears to have the best chance of coming through. Rhea's mark of 51 feet 2 1-8 inches at the Texas relays is the best effort of the collegiate season and is almost an inch farther than the meet record which was set by Rothert of Stanford last season. Rothert is not in competition this year.

Dawson and Hager

Glen Dawson, Oklahoma miler, and Bob Hager, Iowa State hurdler, veteran campaigners, also have good chances of coming in for a division of the spoils. Earl Labertew of Iowa State, conference half-mile champion, would have figured in the money in the national collegiates but was unable to make the trip here because of an attack of tonsilitis.

Sunday Tourney On Slate at Beatrice

BEATRICE, Neb., June 4—The Beatrice open golf tourney will be held here Sunday, June 7, with upwards of 100 players expected to enter. The tourney will be held over the Westbrook golf club course, nine holes, par 36. The course was laid out by Charley Koontz, pro at the Lincoln Shrine club.

Lincoln has been well represented in former tournaments here, large groups from the state capital city having been on deck for the former meets. The meet draws most of its entrants from southeastern Nebraska and northern Kansas towns.

Wrestling Results.

At New York—Ray Steele, California, pinned Taro Mayaki, Japan. Renato Gardini, Italy, and Hans Steinke, New York, drew. Tiny Roebuck, Haskell Indian, defeated Mile Steinborn, Germany. Hans Kemper, Germany, defeated August Benkert, Belgium. Al Feirotti, New England, tossed Tommy Drsak, Holland. Earl McCready, Oklahoma, and Waldek Zbyszko, Poland, drew.

OWNER BACKS UP ON NIGHT GAMES

Hoosier Mogul Prepares Shift Home Contests To Sunlight.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 4—(AP)—Hoping to determine which is the more profitable time to play baseball—afternoon or night— the management of the Indianapolis club of the American Association has announced that, beginning next week, only two night games will be played each week "until further notice."

The policy of playing all games except Sunday contests at night was started last year.

Norman A. Perry, Tribe owner, said he merely wished to do a little "experimenting" in preparation for occupation of a new park which will be completed before the end of the season. He said if weather conditions are normal he believed the results during the next three weeks might form a basis for the policy to be followed.

Today's series finale with Toledo was scheduled for the afternoon, but the opening game with Columbus tomorrow will be under the floodlights. Saturday, Sunday and Monday games will be played in the daylight.

Bobby Quits Movie World to Join Tournament Galleries

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 4—(AP)—Bobby Jones, champion of golf champions, turned his back on the "Village of Make-Believe" today, putting behind him forever the business of motion picture making.

"I'm as definitely out of the movies," the Atlanta, Ga., lawyer said, "as I am out of competitive golf. I'm in the gallery now at golf tournaments, and in front of the screen at the movies."

Jones is weary from three months of working on a series of educational golf pictures and intends to go directly to Atlanta. Later he will make a short trip to New York on business. He plans to attend the Ryder cup matches between American and British professionals at Columbus, O., June 26 and 27 and appear in an exhibition match for charity.

"I wasn't an actor in the pictures," Bobby said. "I was just a golfer trying very hard to show how great a game it is, and perhaps help people to play it a little bit."

CUP COMMITTEE SELECTS TEAM

Lott, Van Ryn, Wood and Shields to Battle For Trophy.

NEW YORK, June 4—George M. Lott and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia and Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, jr., of New York will form the United States Davis cup team to play the winning nation of the European zone, probably at Paris next month, it was announced today by the Davis cup selection committee of the United States lawn Tennis association.

This decision was reached at a meeting of the committee which lasted until after midnight. In making public its selection, the committee announced that the seelction was "subject to changes should later circumstances or conditions warrant."

The tennis team is composed of the youthful element of American stars for the first time since Tilden and Johnson brought the cup back from Australia in 1920

Shields, Wood In Singles.

The probability is that Shields will play singles exclusively, with Wood drawing the other singles assignment if his play abroad justifies, and the Lott-Van Ryn combination pointed for the doubles.

Wood and Shields sail Friday night on the Ile De France to join their team mates abroad.

Lott and Van Ryn, who have been competing in France, will engage in two international team matches, playing an Austrian team at Vienna June 5-6-7 and a German team at Berlin, June 12-13-14. The American forces then will be concentrated in England for practice preliminary to participating in the British championships at Wimbledon, June 22 to July 4.

Hardy Team Captain.

The American team's opponent in the inter-zone Davis cup contest has not yet been decided. Japan, Great Britain and Italy have been outstanding so far in the European zone competition.

The U. S. L. T. A. has delegated Sam Hardy, captain of the Davis cup team, and Watson Washburn to represent this country at the meeting of Davis cup nations in London June 30. They will oppose the plan for transferring control of the Davis cup contests from the holding nation to the International Lawn Tennis Federation. The conference also will consider the proposal of South Africa to hold the contest biennially, instead of annually.

COLLEGE PITCHER HURLS NO-HITTER

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 4—Walfrid Mattson, Minnesota University pitcher, pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Wisconsin here Wednesday. Minnesota won, 3-0.

Last Night's Fights

At Newark, N. J.—Jeo La Gay, New York middleweight, defeated Abie Bain, Newark, 10 rounds; Charlie Krauche, Swiss middleweight, and Johnnie Kreiger, Summit, N. J., drew in 10 rounds.

At Bayonne, N. J.—Herman Pollins, Newark lightweight, defeated Johnny Toye, Jersey City, 10 rounds.

At Seattle, Wash.—Joe Calder, Filipino featherweight, stopped Johnny O'Donnell, San Francisco, in third round.

Tech, Irish In 5-Year Pact

PITTSBURGH, June 4— (AP) — Contracts embracing a five-year football agreement between Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame were tucked away today. Jess Harper, new athletic director at Notre Dame, and Clarence Overend, Skibo graduate manager, talked things over here yesterday and, as a result, games are assured every year up to and including 1935. The Ramblers and Carnegie meet here next October 31. The 1932 game will be at South Bend.

Notre Dame will play the University of Southern California there in 1932 and at the Notre Dame stadium in 1933 under terms of a new two-year contract. The Trojans meet Notre Dame at South Bend next Nov. 21 in the final game of the old compact.

LINCOLN HURLER SETS DOWN ELKS

Nichols Holds Norfolk To Trio of Hits and Links Win, 8 to 1.

LINKS COME HOME FRIDAY.

Lincoln's Links, still in a tie with Grand Island for the Nebraska league lead, will round out their first road trip Thursday at Norfolk and return Friday night for a string of 12 games. North Platte's Buffaloes will provide the opposition in the opening series, followed by Norfolk and McCook.

Manager Leslie Nunamaker's faith in his youthful southpaw pitcher, Lefty Nichols, was justified Wednesday at Norfolk, where the former Fairbury flinger let down the Elkhorns with three hits and, with his mates pummeling 11 safe blows, breezed through to a one-sided triumph, 8 to 1. While Nichols was wild, issuing a string of passes, he whiffed five and turned back Elk batsmen in every crisis.

Gannon was the main spoke of the Links' attack, smacking four drives to safe territory and circling the paths for three runs. Ogorek also fattened his record by poling three hits and driving home three of his mates.

The finale of the series is scheduled for Thursday and the Links then will head for their home park.

McCook had no trouble in putting it over the Dukes, 7 to 1, on the York diamond and Grand Island held the pace, in a tie with the Links for the top of the percentage table, by lambasting the tailend North Platte Buffs, 14 to 2. Scores of the Wednesday games:

Defeat Stirs Anger of Amateurs From Italy

Fascist Boxers Lose to Yanks; Then Put On Display Bad Manners

NEW YORK, June 4—(AP)—International friendship between Italy and the United States has received little if any impetus through the series of boxing bouts between the amateurs of the two nations.

The first time the teams clashed in Madison Square Garden, each won four bouts, a result that was satisfactory to both sides. Last night they met again and, after one of the stormiest scenes the big battle pit ever has seen, the United States came out ahead, five bouts to two, but with the friendly feelings between the ring rivals sadly battered.

Spectators Swing Fists.

The first bout went against the Italian flyweight, Edelweis Rodriguez, and a storm of protest arose from spectators and from the visiting team, although the decision appeared fair to impartial ringside observers. The crowd of 5,000 protested loudly and the indignant Italian boxers marched from the arena.

The spectators took up the battle and several fist fights broke out in the arena. Ringsiders were subjected to a bombardment of everything throwable, including a couple small knives. Police finally restored order and, after a half hour's delay, the Italian boxers were persuaded to continue.

Referee Walks Out.

But Joe Jones, the referee who, with two judges, had voted the decision over Rodriguez to Louis Salica of New York, insisted on dropping out of the picture.

Vincenzo Dall Oporto promptly evened the series by defeating Flavio De Bonis, Boston 118-pounder, but the next four Americans recorded wins to clinch the victory. It was the first time the Italians had lost a team match since they captured he Olympic team championship in 1928.

SAINTS MOVE UP IN GEAR LEAGUE

Missouri Outfit Riding On Second Ring of Pennant Ladder.

The St. Joseph Saints, who have been bowling over opponents with regularity the past two weeks, are now within a notch of the top in the Western league race.

Jimmy Hamilton's squad victimized the Oklahoma City Indians for three in a row a week ago and last night they let the Sooners down for the second time in the current series to climb into second place. Getting to a trio of Indian hurlers for 17 hits, the Saints triumphed, 13 to 6, after collecting 10 tallies in the last two frames. The Indians, who dropped to sixth place, made only seven safeties off Ellis and Newbill.

Wichita Downs Topeka.

Allowing but half a dozen hits, Jacobs piloted the league leading Aviators to a 12 to 2 decision over the Topeka Senators, whose three hurlers submitted to a 14-hit barrage.

Meanwhile, Pueblo and Des Moines continued deadlocked, but this time in third place. The Denver Bears bunched enough of their 10 blows off Smallwood to gain a 6 to 2 victory over the Braves, while the Demons found Estrada, Omaha's Cuban hurler, too much for them. The Packers pounded out 10 hits to post an 11 to 4 triumph.

JOCKEY SET DOWN FOR RIDING TRICK

CHICAGO, June 4—(AP)—Jockey Willie Garner probably will be on the ground for a long stretch for his fouling tactics in the third race, at Washington Park yesterday.

The famous member of the famous Garner jockey family was up on Tellico, odds-on favorite in the June Time purse at five furlongs yesterday. Coming into the the stretch, he grabbed at Jockey C. E. Allen, up on Marcasite. Tellico came in first by a nose, but the stewards disqualified Tellico and gave the race to Marcasite. Garner's license was taken up.

It was the first disciplinary action of the Washington Park meeting, which opened May 25.

Illinois Ace Out of Meet

URBANA, Ill., June 4—(AP)—Lee Sentman, University of Illinois star hurdler, will not be able to compete this week-end at the national intercolegiate track and field meet in Chicago, because of examinations. Good Golf.

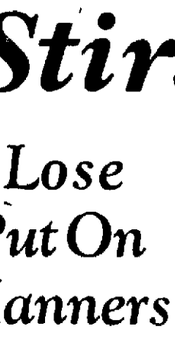
BY CHESTER HORTON, "Golf's Greatest Teacher."

Golf fundamental No. 3, in the order in which I rate them, would be keeping your swing in true plane. This phase I have discussed heretofore and will touch upon it again from time to time. The principle point of breakdown with regard to your swing plane is at the point where, with the club started in your back swing, you cease to go on around with it and, instead, lift it upward. Thus you start back at one angle, and get on to the top at quite a different one. As you start back have in mind to make your left hand reach for the back of your neck, with elbow breaking. Another picture of it is this: Have in mind to make your left arm exactly reverse its position of hanging straight downward from your left shoulder.



(Most golfing faults can be corrected instantly—if you know what and where to correct. Chester Horton has prepared a new vest pocket manual of corrections for all wood club shots; to obtain this write Mr. Horton care of the Sports Editor, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and one two-cent stamp).

Grand Son of Great Hoss Belmont Winner

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., June 4—Great Gun, stout blond son of American Flag, flew the Glen Riddle farm's silks, made famous by his grand sire, Man o'War, to a brilliant victory in the fourth renewal of the Maturity Stakes here Wednesday afternoon. Beaten a sixteenth out from the last line, Great Gun spurted again with superb courage to finish a neck in advance of the Rancocas stable's Grattan. A length and a half away Gigantic, a rank outsider, nosed out Milk Man for the third award in the field of seven.

The victory added $4,075 to Great Gun's earnings. He was quoted at 15 to one and his score was a stunning blow to the favorite players which had flocked to the erratic Curate. The latter was never a serious contender, while Clock Tower, the second choice, wilted when the final issue arrived.

MAX BEARS DOWN ON BOXING MATE

Sparring Pal Laid Low In Workout With Schmeling.

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 4—Boxing fans who are crowding this summer resort to watch Max Schmeling train today were debating whether Max, who looks and acts like Jack Dempsey, is developing a Dempsey wallop to aid in defending his title against Young Stribling at Cleveland next month.

Charles Wepner of New York, heavyweight sparring partner of the champion, was sent hurtling to the canvas by a short right hand to the chin yesterday. When picked up by Schmeling and Joe Jacobs, Wepner wos unable to walk. Although the blow traveled only a few inches, it carried so much dynamite that Wepner sprained his right ankle.

Max boxed four fast rounds yesterday. Two of the training sessions were with Tiny Debolt of Cleevland and the others with Wepner.

Middles Mix at Garden.

NEW YORK, June 4—(AP)—Two middleweights who are a large part of their important roles in the current ratings to victories over Len Harvey, the British champion, clash in Madison Square Garden tonight to see which one will take another step up the championship ladder.

Vince Dundee, the Baltimore lad, who is something of a veteran, although he never before has figured in the title talk, and the up-and-coming Ben Jeby of New York meet in the 10 round feature bout.

Dundee, with two victories over Harvey and one over Jeby, is a strong favorite at odds of about eight to five. The winner may or may not earn some recognition as middleweight champion in place of Mickey Walker, now declared null and void because of his failure to defend the title.

Another middleweight 10-rounder is scheduled for the semi-final bout on the program, Ignaco Ara of Spain meting Buck McTiernan of Pittsburgh.

THE ? BOX

Q. In a baseball game, the batter hit the ball along the third base line. Runner on third started full speed for home and collided with the catcher, who was attempting to field the ball. Runner tried to avoid him but, due to his speed, could not. Catcher claimed runner should be called out for interfering with the play, but umpire called the runner safe and allowed the batter to stay on first. Was that the correct ruling?—F. A., Redington, Neb.

A. Not the correct ruling. Your umpire should have called the runner out for interference with the catcher. See Section 8 of Rule 43 in Reach or Spalding Guide. The fact that the runner was going at full speed and was unable, as you say, to avoid the catcher, would not excuse the interference. The rule required the runner to give the catcher a clear field in the latter's effort to field the ball, in which case the runner should have veered from the baseline, going back of the catcher. The explanation that the runner, because of his speed, could not avoid the collision is most illogical. Anyway, the rule forbids interference with a fielder. Your umpire was wrong and runner from third should have been called out.

Q. In one of Lincoln's City league games, Pitcher A was on the mound and retired after the first inning when his team was ahead and stayed ahead to the finish. The game, played in the evening, was a four-inning affair and Pitcher B was in action the last three innings. Does A or B get credit for the pitching victory? I claim A should have credit as his team was ahead when he retired. Please answer in The Star.—O. L. F., Lincoln.

A. Give the credit to Pitcher B, even though it was only a four-inning game. To pitch the first inning is not sufficient service to permit A to have credit for a victory. The rule is general in professional baseball, where nine innings are played, that a starting pitcher must pitch not less than four innings to receive credit for winning, provided two or more pitchers do not succeed him, in which event the credit goes to A if his team was ahead when he retired and stayed ahead to the end. If four innings of play makes a game legal in the City league, it would appear to be fair and reasonable to require that the starting pitcher serve two full innings, in which event he could be credited with a victory. One inning, however, fails to fill the bill.

Hack Again In Cubs' Lineup

CHICAGO, June 4—(AP)—Hack Wilson, home run king of 1930, has been given another chance to come back with the Cubs. He was inserted in the lineup again yesterday when Johnny Moore reported with a slight leg injury. Moore expected to be back in the game in a few days, however, unless Hack makes good.

So far this season, Wilson's bat has been impotent of his usual production of hits. In 108 times at bat, he has cracked but 27 hits for a total of 43 bases. His home run bat has yielded dividends but twice.

In 1450 Guttenberg introduced printing into Europe. However, the art was known to the Chinese in 50 B. C.

Nine centuries before Guttenberg invented his press, the Chinese already were publishing newspapers. One thousand years ago, the KIN PAN began publishing in Pekin, and it is still issued today. At first it was published monthly, but later became a daily.

A fat person floats more readily in water than a lean person, because fat is lighter than muscle and bone. Therefore, in proportion to size, a fat person is lighter than a lean one.

* * *

"Monistera Deliciosa," the strange "salad" plant, is a native of Trinidad. The plant is truly a mixed fruit salad all in itself. It resembles an ear of corn which rests in a setting, giving it the appearance of a lily. The fruit has a delicious taste, resembling a combination of pineapple, strawberries and bananas.

Senators Peg Away In Effort Keep Pace With Fast-Going Athletics

Although their cause seems more or less hopeless in the face of the Athletics' phenomenal streak, Walter Johnsin's Washington Senators are living up to their promise to give the champions a run for the money in the American league.

While the New York Yankees have dropped back the last fortnight, the Senators have plugged doggedly along, winning 10 of their last 14 engagements and keeping within hailing distance of the fast-traveling leaders. They are firmly established in second place, five games behind the Mackmen and two ahead of the Yankees.

Mackmen Refuse to Slip.

The Senators, in fact, have done as well as Johnson predicted they would when he envisioned a pennant this spring. His only mistake was in figuring the Athletics were due to burn out a bearing. The champions displayed no symptoms of slipping yesterday as they registered their twenty-third victory in their last 26 starts. Lefty Grove, pitching his eighth straight win, let the Chicago White Sox down with six hits and beat them, 2 to 1.

Washington kept the pace with its second straight over the visiting firemen from Detroit, also by a 2 to 1 margin. Bob Burke, young southpaw, allowed only three hits to best Vic Sorrell in a tight mound duel. The Senators bunched three of their six blows to score both their runs in the first inning. Doubles by Sam Rice and Cronin did the work.

Rookie Mauls Homer.

Joe Vosmik, rookie outfielder, cracked a home run in the eleventh inning to give the Cleveland Indians their ninth straight victory at the expense of the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4. The Sox had scored four times in the eighth to tie the count.

The western clubs gained an even break for the day when the St. Louis Browns, personally conducted by Oscar Melillo, beat out an 8 to 6 triumph over the Yankees. The Brown's second-sacker drove in four runs with two singles, a double and home run, the latter his eight consecutive hit in two days.

Matters stood all square after two days of National league warfare west of the Alleghenies. The New York Giants came back to lick St. Louis, 9 to 5, and again climb within a game and a half of the top, and the Chicago Cubs staged a last-inning rally to down Brooklyn, 9 to 8, and even their series.

Crafty Clarence Mitchell went the route against the Cardinals, while the Giants piled up 14 hits off Jess Haines and four hurlers who followed him.

The Robins contracted a bad case of the fumbles in the last inning to break their five-game winning streak. Muffs of easy rollers by Wally Gilbert and Fresco Thompson, combined with hits by Cuyler and Hemsley, allowed the Cubs to score the tying and winning runs off Jack Quinn. Babe Herman clouted a homer, double and two single for the losers.

Squeeze Bunt Beats Bucs.

Dressen's triple, followed by Rabbit Maranville's squeeze bunt, gave the Boston Braves a run to nose out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3, in 10 innings. Mosolf, substitute outfielder, drove in two of the Pirates' runs with a homerun in the first inning.

Eppa Rixey, veteran Cincinnati left-hander, turned the slugging Phillies back with four hits as the Reds squared their series, 3 to 1. It was Rixey's first complete game this year. Pinkey Whitney nicked him ofr two doubles.

Short Covering And Some Investment Buying Combine To Give Stocks Another Strong Rally

Marked Strength Displayed by Rails

Net Gains Range From 3 to 9 Points in Active Issues.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 4.

Active short covering and some investment buying combined to give the stock market another strong rally today. Net gains ranged from 3 to 9 points in the active issues. Extreme rises were cut by profit taking in the final dealings.

Rails displayed marked vigor, and it was their spurt that set the movement in motion early in the afternoon after a period of early realizing. The rise in the carriers was prompted in part by news that the Great Northern had been permitted by the interstate commerce commission to advance freight rates on coal in part of its territory.

U. S. Steel led the rise in the industrials, soaring about 4 points and closing 3¾ higher. American Telephone, finishing at 170¼, was up 4½. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, Rock Island and numerous other rails advanced 3 to 5. Union Pacific soared 9 and Eastman Kodak 8.

General Electric, Radio and American Can closed about a point higher. Case, which had harbored a large short interest, rose 6, while theer was a similar gai nin Ingersoll Rand. Allied Chemical, Western Union and Westinghouse gained 3.

Sales were in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 shares.

Wall street decided not to pass too hasty a judgment on the rapid recovery. The market has reached several so-called selling climaxes it the last twenty months, only to swing into a reaction, and brokerage houses wanted to await its performance under fire before venturing a belief that an important turning point had been reached. It was recalled that after the last sharp rebound, a few weeks ago, the market dropped just as quickly as it had risen.

Investment banking houses got a big surprise in the size of the oversubscription to the new government bond issue, although a heavy demand had been expected. The tremendous inquiry for the 3 per cent bonds speaks eloquently of the vast reservoir of funds awaiting investment. So far money from this accumulation has flowed only into highest grade issues and bankers have been impatiently awaiting its turn into secondary obligations. New financing in recent weeks has been very small, pending the appearance of more settled conditions in the bond market.

Brokers began to pass on to their customers the lower margin requirements of the banks and several firms brought their own demands down to new rates in the hope of awakening public interest. Lacking outside support, the market's chances of a sustained advance without help from the business situation would not be particularly lustrous. It was also remembered that poor second quarter earnings statements are still to be reckoned with, although some observers contend that these have been well discounted.

News from trade and industry was scant. Endicott-Johnson rallied briskly despite the first reduction in the shoe company's dividend; possibly an omission had been looked for. Woolworth's May sales were off 4.7 per cent in comparison with 1930, but part of the loss was attributed to the fact that this year Memorial day fell on a Saturday, and a Saturday's business is worth roughly a million dollars to the company. President Parsons said there had been a steady increase since April 1.

There were no developments in the money markets and the 1½ per cent call loan renewal rate still held.

The stock market weathered quick profit-taking today, turning upward again after losses of a point or two had been established in leading shares as traders rallied on yesterday's advance.

The decline that followed an irregular opening was recovered except in a few instances, and rails led a move into higher ground. Atchison, Kansas City Southern, Hudson, Erie second preferred, American Smelting and Southern California Edison rose 2 to 2½ net and there were slightly smaller gains in Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, National Biscuit, Lambert and National Dairy.

U. S. Steel recovered a 1-point loss and Southern Pacific reduced a decline of 2½. American Telephone was heavy, but got back half of a drop of 2¾. Anaconda, Du Pont and Columbian Carbon also sagged.

Call money renewed at 1½ per cent.

The stock market ran into moderate realizing after an irregularly higher opening today.

Traders who had bought at the recent low levels were quick to take advantage of yesterday's sensational advance, accepting profits during the earlier trading. Declines, however, were generally small and the market turned dull when the first batch of selling orders had been exhausted.

U. S. Steel, opening with a nominal gain, reacted a point.

Initial advances of about a point in Lambert, Mack, Pullman, Chesapeake & Ohio, New Haven, National Biscuit, National Dairy and Pennsylvania were modified or lost. American Telephone extended a ¾ point loss to 2 and Eastman, which had rallied 6 on the strength of the chairman's statement that 1931 sales were running about at 1922 levels, yielded more than half of the advance. American Can, Consolidated Gas, New York Central and General Motors lost a point or so.

Brokerage houses were reluctant to express a definite opinion on the abrupt rally of Wednesday, preferring to reserve judgment until the market had been tested by a secondary reaction. The consensus was that the rise had grown out of an oversold position and that whether it carried further significance remained to be seen.

Sterling cables opened unchanged at $4.86 11-16.

Wheat Prices Firm at Close

Finish at Chicago is ¼ To 2c Higher; Corn ¼ to 1c Up.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 4.

Spreading operations that consisted of purchasing of wheat against selling of corn led to material upturns in wheat prices today. There was also buying of wheat on account of strength of securities and on drouth complaints from a wide area in Canada and parts of the American northwest. An authoritative unofficial Canadian report to be issued Saturday was expected to make the poorest showing ever known at this time of the year.

Wheat closed firm, ½c to 2c higher; July, 58⅝@58⅞c; September, 59½@59¼c. Corn, ¼c to 1¼c up; July, 57½c; December, 47½@47⅝c. Oats, ½c to ⅝c advance. Provisions rallied sharply, and closed at 15c to 27c gain.

Wheat prices made an irregular start today, the June delivery diving down more than a cent, whereas July and other new crop months advanced. Unexpected firmness of Liverpool wheat quotations were reflected by the action of new crop deliveries. June responded to selling orders induced by yesterday's suddenwithdrawal of government sponsored buying orders for old crop wheat. Opening ⅝c off to ½c up, wheat fluctuated nervously, with June showing power to rally.

Corn started unchanged to ⅝c higher and subsequently rose all around.

Helping to make wheat prices average higher much of the time were reports indicating that moisture relief in Canadian drought districts had been relatively unimportant, and that continued dry weather was probable. Adverse crop conditions were also reported in eastern Montana and western North Dakota, where lack of adequate rain persisted. Meanwhile, strength of the Liverpool market was ascribed to apparent likelihood of a reduction of German tariff duties.

Canadian advices said crop conditions had now reached the stage where immediate and copious rains must be forthcoming to prevent irreparable damage to by far the biggest part of the country's wheat acreage. Rainfall in Canada for April and May was reported as less than one-third of normal. At present, the crop was asserted to be deteriorating daily, with extensive and permanent injury threatening.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat upturns.

Foreign selling of lard weakened provisions.

Considerable selling of corn took place at times as a result of favorable weather for the new corn crop. South Dakota reports were received telling of big corn acreage all showing fine color. Chicago receipts of corn totaled 88 cars, against 131 a year ago.

Selling of July corn against purchases of September resulted in a sharp narrowing of the difference between the two deliveries the spread being around 3 cents at one time today, compared with 4¾ cents at the close on Wednesday. Buying against bids was a factor in checking declines.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 4.

The bond market experienced a general advance today, although trading was of moderate proportions most of the time.

Even the over-the-counter market was not active, which is not a common condition when the trend is rising. When prices were receding recently the volumne was often limited and so the lack of activity in a reversal of trend, especially in the early stages, should not be surprising. There has not been a real broard interest in the bond market for some time and it need not be expected to develop suddenly.

Railroad obligations were plainly the most favored group as were carrier stocks in the share market. Advances of a point or more occured in such issues as Northern Pacific 4s of 1997, St. Louis San Francisco 4½s of 1978, Southern Railway 4s of 1956, Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, Erie 5s of 1975 and Great Northern series B 6½s. Fractional gains were common. Many rail issues only recently reached new low levels.

The advance was not so wide among public utility obligations. International Telephone debenture 5s of 1955 and American & Foreign Power 5s were two of the most active issues of the whole list and scored good gains but the great majority of all such changes were fractional.

Stock privilege obligations were generally nigher in sympathy with the corresponding stocks. Foreign obligations were little more than steady. A few of them even eased off but the majority of this group gained fractions. Industrial issues behaved similarly but trading in them was less active than in other sections of the list.

Bonds of the United States government were dull again. The high oversubscription of the new issues was another indication of the persistent demand for gilt edge bonds.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 4

Successfully weathering mild profit taking, curb stocks closed higher for the second successive session today. As usual advance were not comparable with those on the big board, being limited to one or two points.

The curb market held its ground today against renewed efforts to depress prices following yesterday's rally. Traders who regarded the rise as due principally to an oversold condition derived little comfort from the behavior of the list, which was characterized by steadiness.

Short selling and profit taking during the morning gave the market an irregular appearance but nervous longs took heart from the manner in which selling was absorbed and leading shares gradually moved fractionally above yesterday's closing prices.

The much harassed oils which made their best advance in weeks yesterday under the leadership of Vacuum's spectacular 11-point advance, were firm. Vacuum segged 1½ points on profit taking at the opening but recovered this loss to hold around 34½. Cities Service, Standard of Indiana, Humble and Gluf fluctuated narrowly.

Utilities were strong in the initial dealings, but later settled down into a narrow groove with few fluctuations exceeding a point. Trading in the group turned dull. Electric Bond & Share dipped sharply at the opening down to 32⅜ but gradually swung back to 35 or within a fraction of its previous final price. American Gas & Electric, and Tampa Electric advanced a point or so.

Motor shares and some of the specialties were well bought. Newmont Mining was strong, and Lead Johnson continued to appreciate, crossing 80. Ford of England and Canada were accumulated at fractions above yesterday's closing quotations. Aluminum of America reached a new high for the week.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

Trading Active, Mostly 10 to 20 Cents Up, With Top of $5.90.

(U. S Department of Agriculture)

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, June 4.

CATTLE—A continued broad order demand for light steers, yearlings and heifers made those classes active today at prices that were at least steady; heavier steers, however, moved slowly unless they were something that just suited outside orders and cows also were draggy, although light receipts prevented much price change; compared with the close of last week, light steers are quoted 50c to 75c higher with heavier cattle mostly 25c to 50c higher; from the low time most of the light cattle showed $1.00 increase; heifers and feeders have shared this upturn.

CLOSE: Cattle, receipts 4,800, calves 300; light steers and yearlings active, steady to strong; weighty steers and medium weights slow, steady to weak; heifers and choice light cows strong; other she stock slow, steady; bulls weak; vealers fully steady; stockers and feeders scarce; fed steers and yearlings mostly $6.00@7.50; yearlings up to $8.00, part load $8.10; heifers, $6.25@7.25; bulk beef cows, $3.50@5.00; few choice light cows, $5.25@5.75; cutter grades mostly $2.50@3.50; medium bulls; $3.00@3.50; practical top vealers, $8.50, few to independents $9.00@9.50

HOGS—On an extremely active market, hogs sold 10c to 20c higher with top at $5.90, and bulk of sales from $5.50@5 90; packing sows shared most of the advance, having a top of $4 85 on smooth light kinds to shippers, while bulk of sales were $4 50@4 85.

CLOSE: Hogs, receipts 11,000, including 56 direct; active, mostly 10c to 20c higher; top, $5.90 on 170-190 lb. lights; bulk 160-240 lb. weights, $5.75@5 90; 240-325 lb. butchers, $5 50@5.75; packing sows, $4.50@4.85; feeder pigs, mostly $5.00@5.25; average cost Wednesday $5.40, weight 259.

SHEEP—Increased receipts and an unsatisfactory eastern dressed lamb market were responsible for sharp losses in today's fat lamb trade; the early market was slow with bids and sales 25c to 50c under Wednesday; feeders ruled dull and weak and aged sheep were weak to as much as 25c lower.

CLOSE: Sheep, receipts 10,000, including 900 direct to packers; lambs and yearlings, 50c to 75c lower; sheep weak; feeders steady; bulk choice native lambs $9.25 to $9.50; early sales, Idaho lambs, choice, $9.50, some held higher; one deck medium grade California lambs, $8.25; good to choice fed yearlings, $6.75@7.25; top, $7.50; shorn ewes, $2.00 down; Idaho feeding lambs up to $7.00.

Chicago Livestock.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture)

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 4.

Undaunted by the weakness that appeared in the wholesale pork market yesterday at practically every important center, buyers of live hogs came out early today to catch the best light and medium weights before it was too late. Sales were steady to 10c higher with weights above 250 lbs. moving first. Bids of $6.20 to $6.30 for 180 to 220-lb. kinds were rejected, as commission men demanded more, but 260 to 280-lb. butchers moved at $6 10 and a few 350-lb. kinds at $5.75. There were 19,000 hogs on sale, including 4,000 held. But not counting the 6,000 in the run today that went to packers direct.

Now that 50c to $1.00 has been added to the value of steers in the three days of this week and the top at $8.75 was the highest since May 20 in the cattle market, best selected kinds in the run of 3,000 Vealers faced a broad outlook, with the tiously.

buyers are proceeding a little more cautheld at $9.00 to $9.50.

Plenty of lambs were to be had today by all buyers who needed supplies, as the run of 14,000 contained only 3,843 directs.

Early trading was slow and packers bid weaker on all but the best classes of native and western lambs, which were held at $10.00 to $10 50.

HOGS—Receipts 21,000, including 6,000 direct; active, mostly 5c to 10c hig

And the Band Played On

By SIDNEY SMITH

UNCLE BIM IS RIGHT— HE IS MAD AS A HORNET— FURIOUS! AND HE HAS GOOD CAUSE TO BE— FOR LAST NIGHT WHEN HE CALLED ON HENRIETTA— HE FOUND TOM CARR ON THE FRONT STEPS KISSING HER GOOD NIGHT— HE WILL PUT A STOP TO THIS— HE IS NO SAP—
AS THOUGH I WAS GOING TO STAND FOR THIS— KISSING TOM CARR— THAT LITTLE UPSTART— WELL— SHE'LL NOT FOOL WITH ME— I'LL CALL HER UP AND THRASH THIS THING OUT ONCE AND FOR ALL—
CAN YOU BEAT THAT? I WAS JUST TALKING TO HENRIETTA ON THE PHONE— I TOLD HER THAT I LOVED HER— BUT I WAS NOT GOING TO STAND FOR HER RUNNING AROUND WITH TOM CARR— AND THAT I REFUSED TO PLAY SECOND FIDDLE ANY LONGER— AND DO YOU KNOW WHAT SHE SAID? THAT I WAS LUCKY TO BE IN THE BAND AT ALL—
WELL— I'LL TELL YOU BIMBO— THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A WISE MAN AND A FOOL— THE WISE MAN ONLY WISHES FOR WHAT HE MAY POSSIBLY OBTAIN— WHILE THE FOOL SEEKS AFTER AND CRAVES IMPOSSIBILITIES—
POOR BIM WITH HIS HEART OF GOLD
IF HE COULD SEE HENRIETTA NOW— ALL DRESSED FOR A RIDE IN THE COUNTRY WITH TOM OH- WELL- LIVE AND LEARN-

FELIX WROTE BERTHA A NOTE SAYING HE WOULD BE WAITING IN THE TREES NEAR HER HOME FOR HER TO ELOPE WITH HIM— HE WOULD YELL "YOO HOO" AS THE SIGNAL FOR HER TO COME OUT—
AT THE APPOINTED HOUR BERTHA PACKED HER GRIP AND WAITED FOR THE "YOO HOO" SIGNAL—
BUT IN THE MEANTIME FELIX HAD CAUGHT A BAD COLD AND LOST HIS VOICE— NO MATTER HOW HARD HE TRIED HE COULDN'T UTTER A SOUND—SO BERTHA, NATURALLY THOUGHT HE HAD JILTED HER AND, OUT OF SPITE, MARRIED A PEANUT VENDER WHO HAD ADMIRED HER FOR YEARS.

Mac is Wise

By RUSS WESTOVER

IF MAC IS GOING TO TRY TO FIGHT ME IN THE WASHING-MACHINE BUSINESS, I'LL RUIN HIM
IS THAT NICE, MR. SIMPKINS
AFTER ALL I'VE DONE FOR HIM HE'S GOING TO COMPETE WITH ME IN GIVING THE WORLD A BETTER MACHINE THAN HE INVENTED FOR ME
I DON'T BELIEVE HE'D DO THAT
I'LL UNDERSELL HIM- IN FACT, I'LL GIVE MY WASHING-MACHINES AWAY AND RUN HIM OUT OF BUSINESS
BUT SUPPOSIN' HE ISN'T BUILDING ANOTHER WASHING-MACHINE?
MAC ISN'T SO DUMB - HE WOULDN'T ATTEMPT ANYTHING HE DIDN'T KNOW
THAT'S WHY MAC ISN'T A BIG SHOT with THE GIRLS

Kansas City Man Killed In Reno Club

Gunman Is Slain By Graham, Gambler and Associate of Dempsey.

RENO, Nev., June 4—(AP)—William Graham, one of the "big four" of the Reno gambling fraternity and associated with Jack Dempsey in boxing promotion here, shot and killed W. H. McCracken at the Haymarket club early today. Graham was wounded in the arm.

Witnesses said McCracken, whose parents live in Kansas City, entered the club and fired two shots, one striking the bar and the second creasing Graham's arm. Graham fired three shots, all of which took effect.

The gambler was released on his own recognizance pending a coroner's inquest. The Haymarket club was raided by federal prohibition agents three days ago.

ROUND-UP WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Five Hundred Alumni of University Expected to Attend Reunion.

Five hundred alumni of the University of Nebraska are expected to attend the annual Round-up celebration Friday and Saturday. Results of a mail ballot for next year's officers will be announced at the general luncheon to be held in the coliseum Friday noon.

Friday morning the classes of 1898 and 1902 will start off with breakfasts at Gingham Inn located at 727 South eleventh street and at the University club respectively. At the same hour, the executive committee will meet in the "N" club room in the coliseum to make plans for next year's activities.

At 10 o'clock, general matters will be discussed at a meeting of the alumni council in the "N" club room.

Five hundred plates have been reserved for the main luncheon. Serl Davis of Plattsmouth, retiring president will preside, and the principal address will be be given by Guy Reed, Chicago banker. This is the first time for several years that the general luncheon has been held on the campus, difficulty having been experienced in arranging service.

At last year's council meeting, a unanimous sentiment for holding the luncheon on the campus was expressed, and the officers promised to do so if possible this year.

The Delian picnic in Epworth park at 4 o'clock and the Palladian banquet in Palladian hall at 6:30 o'clock will conclude the Friday activities. It had previously been planned to have the Kosmet Klub stage its annual musical comedy for the "grads," but the officers cancelled this program because of the hot weather and lack of a satisfactory place for the performance. Officers also felt that the alumni might want the evening open for visiting friends and renewing acquaintances.

Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock, the class of 1911, honor group this year, will meet for breakfast at the home of Arthur A. Dobson, 3140 Sheridan boulevard. At 9 o'clock, the classes of 1914 and 1915 will hold a joint breakfast at the University club.

Youth Admits Holdup Story Told as Alibi

William Rocksien Tells Of Robbery to Conceal Spending at Carnival.

After reporting himself the victim of a holdup Wednesday night, William Rocksien, Sixty-eighth and South streets, confessed, police said, that the holdup was a hoax, and that in reality he had spent his money at a carnival. The youth concocted the holdup story as an alibi for losing his money, amounting to $7, according to police who investigated the incident.

Rocksien, who is employed as a proof reader, told officers that the bandit got into his car at Ninth and N streets, and forced him to drive to Twelfth and L streets, where he was compelled to hand over his billfold. The bandit then got out, and drove away in another car, the youth related.

Assigned to investigate the holdup, Detective Robert H. Davis returned to police headquarters a few minutes later after he had drawn the confession from Rochsien.

Police have been troubled by several similar fake holdups during the past few months, officials said. On several such occasions, the "victims," have lost sums at gambling, and needed an explanation for someone at home.

Dempsey Divorce Still In Icebox

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 4 — Joseph Scott, attorney for Estelle Taylor, actress-wife of Jack Dempsey, was en route here from Reno today, after conferring with Robert Burns, the former heavyweight champion's lawyer.

Results of the confab were not divulged, but it was believed that they failed to reach an agreement as to which of the two principals will start the divorce action, whether it will be filed in Nevada or California or any division of the couple's community property.

Attorneys Not Talking.

Both attorneys maintained silence following their latest confab, but Attorney Burns admitted at Reno that another meeting had been scheduled for next week, probably in Reno.

Dempsey is eligible now to file his divorce suit in Reno, but it as not believed the action would be filed until some agreement has been reached with his wife regarding a property settlement.

It was regarded as possible that if an agreement is reachec, Miss Taylor may file a cross-complaint and receive the decree.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief.

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is a congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts. This remedy has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of an operation until you have tried a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets. Harley Drug Co. guarantees money back if they do not end Piles in any form.—Advertisement.

NEW YORK, June 4—Keeping the bedroom looking as cool and airy as you want a summer bedroom to look isn't as hard as it sounds. Not even if it has a southern exposure and bright sun all day.

When you've put sheer, crisp curtains at the windows, taken up the winter rug and replace it with small ones that let lots of bare floor show—you've made a good start.

But fashion's with you if you want to go a step further and make the bed itself look cool.

This month and next and next and next, light-colored, lightweight, easily washable, bedspreads are the fashion.

Smart Candlewick Spreads.

The kind of room your bedroom is easily decides the kind of spread you want. If its furniture is Colonial, a candlewick spread is a good choice. They're not new, of course. They were used in Colonial days and have been used a lot in the last few years since Colonial furniture has been in such high fashion favor.

They're still being used for this reason . . . and just because they're good looking and practical.

They're easy to wash and don't have to be ironed. Why? Because their background is usually unbleached muslin and it looks even better when it's a little krinkly.

On a cream muslin ground the wicking can be white, or any color that goes with the color of your room.

Flowered Chintzes.

Another spread particularly summery, especially if your draperies are cretonne or chintz, or just white ruffled ones, is one of flowered glazed chintz or sateen.

But how about washing glazed chintz? Will it? First, it won't need to be washed very often as the glazing helps it shed dust. It can be brushed satisfactorily. Next, even if some of the finish washes out, you still have a chintz pattern spread and the design is just as attractive unglazed.

Sheer Spreads.

Just about the coolest, freshest most feminine spread we've seen is one made by a woman at home, and she says she's not paticularly clever at sewing either.

Hers is of dotted Swiss, but it might be of voile, organdy, dimity or figured marquisette—any sheer material, in fact. One like it is sketched on the bed in the bedroom scene.

Such lovely soft colors can be found in these materials and in trimmings, too. Chintz bandings, flutings, cordings and ball fringe. And the sheer materials are especially smart made with a full gathered flounce and rows of tiny ruffles.

Another type that can be made at home or bought ready made is the applique spread. Quaint floral designs in soft pastel tints are cut out of muslin and appliqued on a colored cotton or unbleached muslin ground.

And a smart tailored spread—fine for a man's room—can be made of any plain material with the edges bound in color and a monogram placed in the center.

Q. Is it practical to resize a rug at home?

A. Stretch the rug tight and true, and tack at frequent intervals face down on a floor or some other flat surface where it can remain undisturbed. It should then be sprinkled generously with a solution made by soaking and dissolving in a double boiler ¼ pound of flake glue in ½ gallon of water. The rug should be allowed to dry at least 24 hours. If it is light weight, care should be taken not to put on so much glue that it penetrates to the right side.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Transitional Period.

Nagging is something which not only accomplishes nothing good but actually is harmful. There are cases of children interrupting a parent's lecture by saying "Yes, I know what you're going to say," and proceeding to say it. It is useless to lecture a child under such circumstances.

Adolescence is the time when a parent should strive to retain the confidence of his child. If a parent can do this, he can probably be most helpful. Undoubtedly a marked degree of tolerance and respect for the child's own rights and willingness to allow him, as far as possible, to form his own opinions, is the ideal attitude for the parent to take.

Unfortunately this is rather difficult for parents. They show a marked tendency to consider certain behaviour as especially reprehensible, and are particularly intolerant to disobedience, insolence and a general refusal to conform.

Many of the traits displayed bytae adolescent will take care of themselves in given time. The child passes through a number of different phases, and these need give no concern as long as he passes out of them at the proper time.

The great problem during all the period of childhood is to find suitable outlets for the child's interests and emotions, knowing that if we cannot there is the danger that he will manage to secure some undesirable outlet and utilize that.

"Mrs. G. M." and other parents, remember that in this transitional period from childhood to adult, the individual is changing and he goes through a great deal of stress, strain and turmoil trying to adjust himself to the changes which life is demanding of him and the changes he is demanding of life. We need to be tolerant and understanding and can help more through sympathy and helpfulness than through repression and scolding.

Most Important.

Marriage is the most important of human contracts and requires the same study as any successful business. "Annie," who is about to be married, has great fears for the possible instability of her future, fears whih are experienced by most prospective brides. The chief thing for her to ask herself is if she is satisfied with her prospective mate's character and disposition or would she want to make him over. If the latter is the case, she had better not marry.

Sustaining Romance.

Dear Minerva: You and I are complete strangers to each other yet I am wondering if you can help me any.

To begin with, I ran off and got married when I was sixteen—to a boy nineteen. I am now twenty-four and have a dear little daughter seven years old. I adore her and for that reason have stayed with my husband this long. I left him once (for eight months) and then about a year ago. I came back to him to try again and make a home out of the broken pieces and for the baby's sake.

My husband is kind, above reproach. When I lost my baby boy and lay in the hospital, sick unto death, no one could have been more attentive and worried. He is good looking in a nice, quiet way. I am tall, slim, vivacious and full of pep. I love to have company and be around people. He wants to stay home. When our friends come, he acts so cool toward them as to drive them away. I have even tried asking special friends of his but he is the same. Yet people seem to like him.

I could stand that part of it, but it is more than that. Something happened. He did something that to me or any other decent minded person is revolting. He was intoxicated at the time. I do not know if he remembers it or not. He wears a sort of shamefaced expression. I have been trying to decide since that what to do. If I leave him I have no home to go to and he is not able to pay me so very much alimony. We have our furniture and car all paid for, but are paying a doctor bill. I am working part time but not enough to support my baby and myself.

What should I do? Should I deprive my baby of her father and strike out alone or do you think time will help me to forget and I should stay with him although I do not respect him? He is not an habitual drunkard.

Do women stay with their husbands when they have lost all love and respect for them, live with them on down through the years? I could not ask anyone else this but a stranger.

—A DISILLUSIONED WIFE.

A.—My dear, life for you alone would be a bleak, difficult thing to face. Your husband would be left lonely and bereft if you were to go. It is an alternative which does not appeal to you in any way but as a demonstration to yourself of certain ideals which your husband has not measured up to.

My advice is to stick it out, and not only make the best of it, but make that best something to be proud of and happy over. You can help him in every way to avoid the state of intoxication in the future. Don't treat him like a criminal or a failure, or in any way show your disgust for him. On the other hand, attempt to rebuild all those things which first drew you two together and made you happily in love.

Dishonest Scheme.

Joe: The scheme you are considering is not an honest one, and even though it is sometimes apparently successful, it is certainly not anything for you to attempt. Get-rich-schemes are pretty flimsy and shoddy makeshifts.

Gandhi Burns Foot

BARDOLI, India, June 4—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi met a slight accident today while he was taking his customary morning walk. Along a railroad track he stepped on an ash heap and burned his foot on a live coal, but he was able to walk back to Ashram.

Mad Pursuit

such a casual air that they all played up to him.

"Have a good rest," Aunt Em said. "Don't think about us."

The taxi was waiting. Fran stooped to gather Dickie in her arms.

"You'll come tonight?" Alice cried.

"Not tonight, Alice, but pretty soon. You'll be a good girl?

"Mud, are you ever coming back again?"

"Of course she is," Aunt Em said staunchly.

"Don't kiss me good-by, Nora," Fran said steadily. She looked back, smiling pitifully as they went down the steps. Fergus was waiting on the sidewalk.

Dickie began to cry, but Aunt Em tickled him until he was chuckling again. The last Fran saw of her son was his waving hand and rosy, dimpled laughter.
